YOKOZUNA WINS ROYAL RUMBLE '93!

SACRAMENTO, CA.—Yokozuna, the massive 505 pound former Sumo champion, captured this year's Royal Rumble with a very impressive showing. On his way to victory, Yokozuna eliminated six men before depositing Randy Savage over the top rope to win the prestigious event.

With his victory, Yokozuna has earned the right to face Bret Hart in the main event at Wrestlemania 9, April 4 at Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas NV.

In addition to the 30-man Battle Royal, there were four other matches on the bill—as well as the WWF debut of Lex "Narcissus" Luger.

In the opening bout the Steiner Brothers easily defeated the Beverly Brothers when Scott Steiner pinned Blake Beverly.

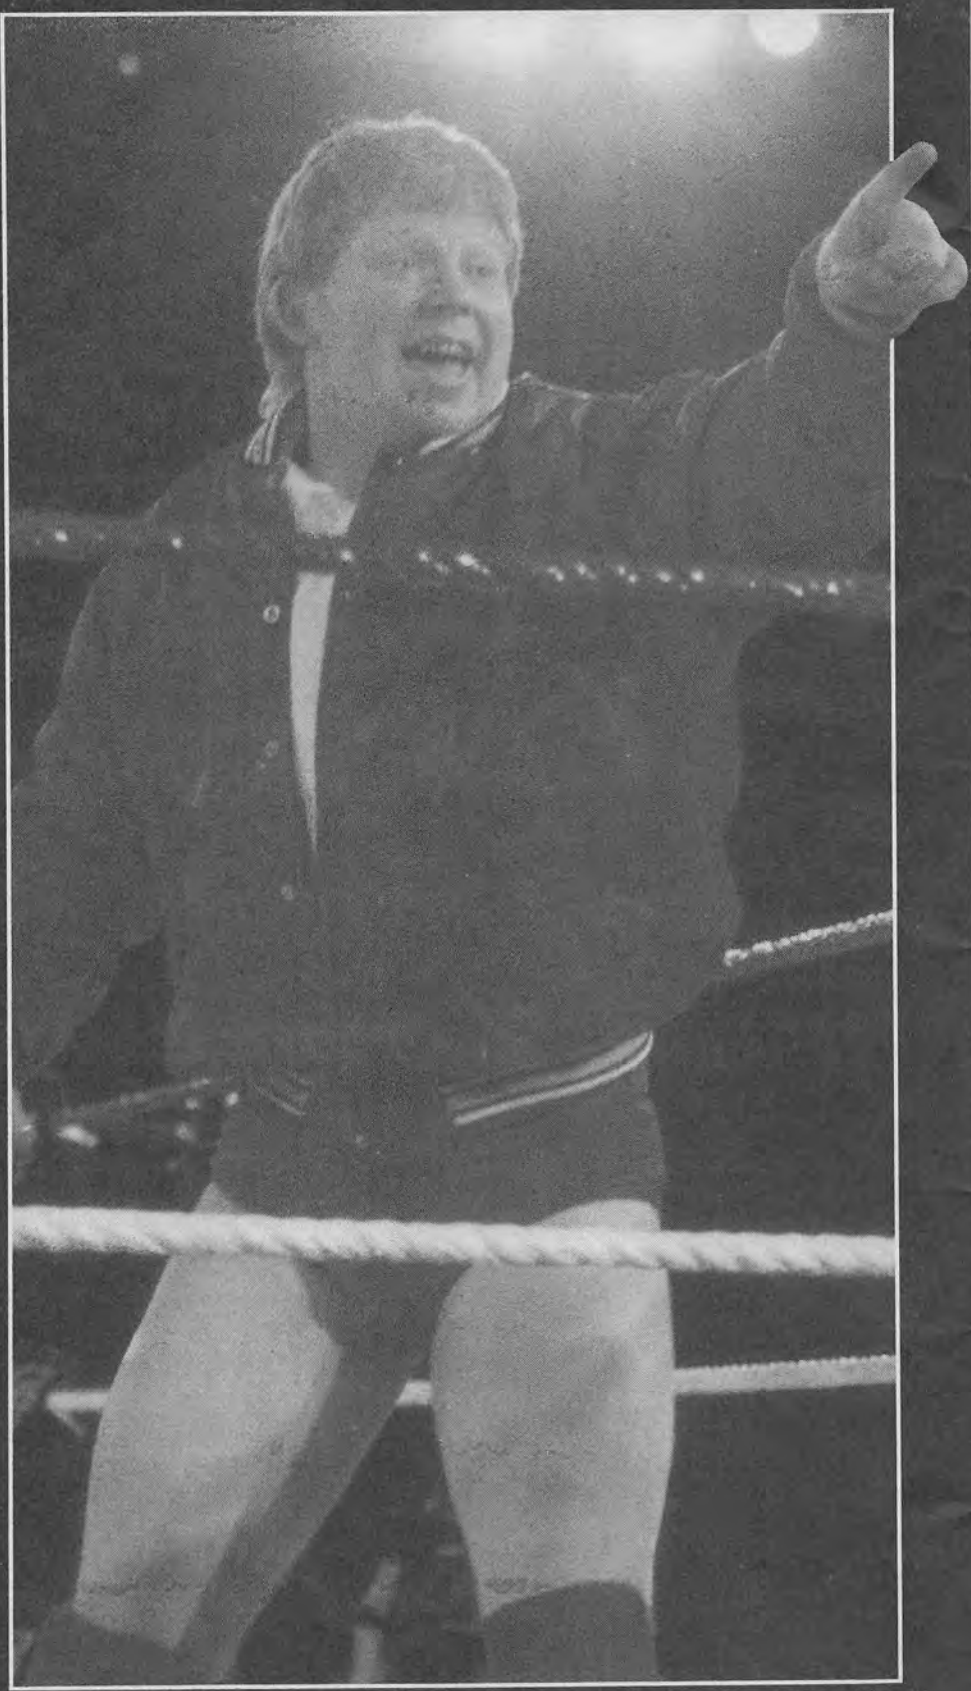
In a WWF Intercontinental title match, champion Shawn Michaels retained his title with a win over Marty Jannetty.

In the WWF World Heavyweight title bout, Bret Hart retained his belt when he made Razor Ramon submit to his "sharpshooter."

In a preliminary match, Bam Bam Bigelow squashed the Big Boss Man.

ROYAL RUMBLE FACTS:

- Bob Backlund lasted in the ring one hour and four minutes breaking Ric Flair's record set in 1992.
- Backlund was the second man in the ring and the second to last to be eliminated.
- Yokozuna eliminated seven men on his way to victory.
- A Giant Monster (El Gigante) entered the Rumble although he was not on the official list of entrants.



Bob Backlund set a record by staying in the ring during Royal Rumble for one hour and four minutes.

Going into the Royal Rumble, the big question was: How the heck is anyone going to get Yokozuna over the top rope. The answer should have been obvious. No one could.

Lex "Narcissus" Luger made his WWF debut at the Royal Rumble!

WRESTLEMANIA 9 PREVIEW!

Yokozuna to be Hart's toughest test, yet!

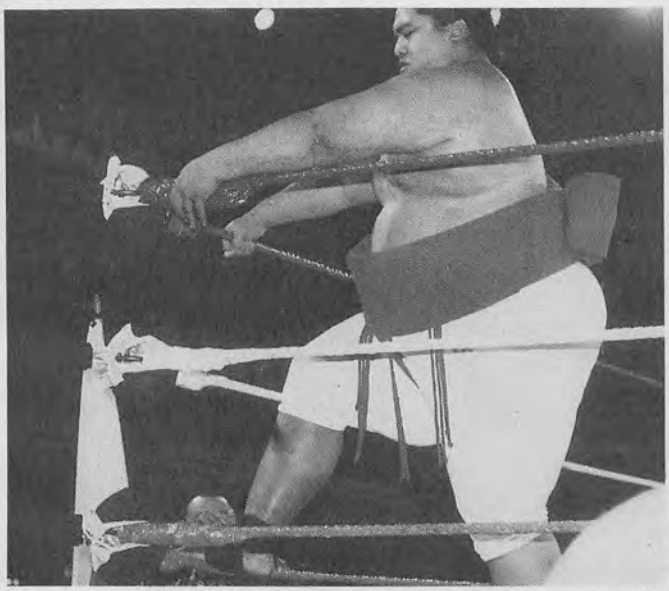
On April 4, 1993, the WWF will hold the ninth annual Wrestlemania at Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas NV. The main event this year will feature a WWF World Heavyweight Championship match between the champ, Bret "Hitman" Hart, and the challenger, 505-pound ex-Sumo master Yokozuna. For Hart, this figures to be his toughest challenge to date.

Yokozuna is undefeated since entering the WWF, and his manager, Mr. Fuji, feels that the big guy has what it takes to go all the way to the top.

Bret Hart will be hard pressed to use his patented finishing moves on the huge Yokozuna. Owing to the Polynesian's girth, Hart's sharpshooter, as well as many of his other scientific moves, should prove to be ineffectual.

If Hart is going to emerge from this bout with his championship belt still in his possession, he will have to rely on his speed and agility to offset Yokozuna's enormous weight advantage.

In addition to the World Title bout, the WWF Tag Team title will also be on the line when IRS and the Million



The main event at April 4's Wrestlemania will be WWF World Heavyweight Champion Bret "Hitman" Hart versus Mr. Fuji's Hawaiian Sumo phenom, the 505-pound Yokozuna.

The Steiner Brothers have made quite an impression on their opposition since joining the World Wrestling Federation, landing several opponents in the hospital. The Steiners will get their chance to win the WWF World Tag Team Championship belts when they face IRS and the Million Dollar Man at Wrestlemania.

Dollar Man put their belts on the line against Rick and Scott Steiner. The Steiners have looked positively awesome since entering the WWF. The brothers are eagerly awaiting their shot at the champions. They want to show the world that they are truly the greatest tag team in the sport.

Another match signed for Wrestlemania is a grudge match between Mr. Perfect and the man who claims to be perfection personified, Lex "Narcissus" Luger. Both men consider themselves the best in the business. This match Mirror, mirror on the wall, who's the most perfect of them all? The match between Curt "Mr. Perfect" Hennig and Lex "Narcissus Luger" should determine the answer to that one.

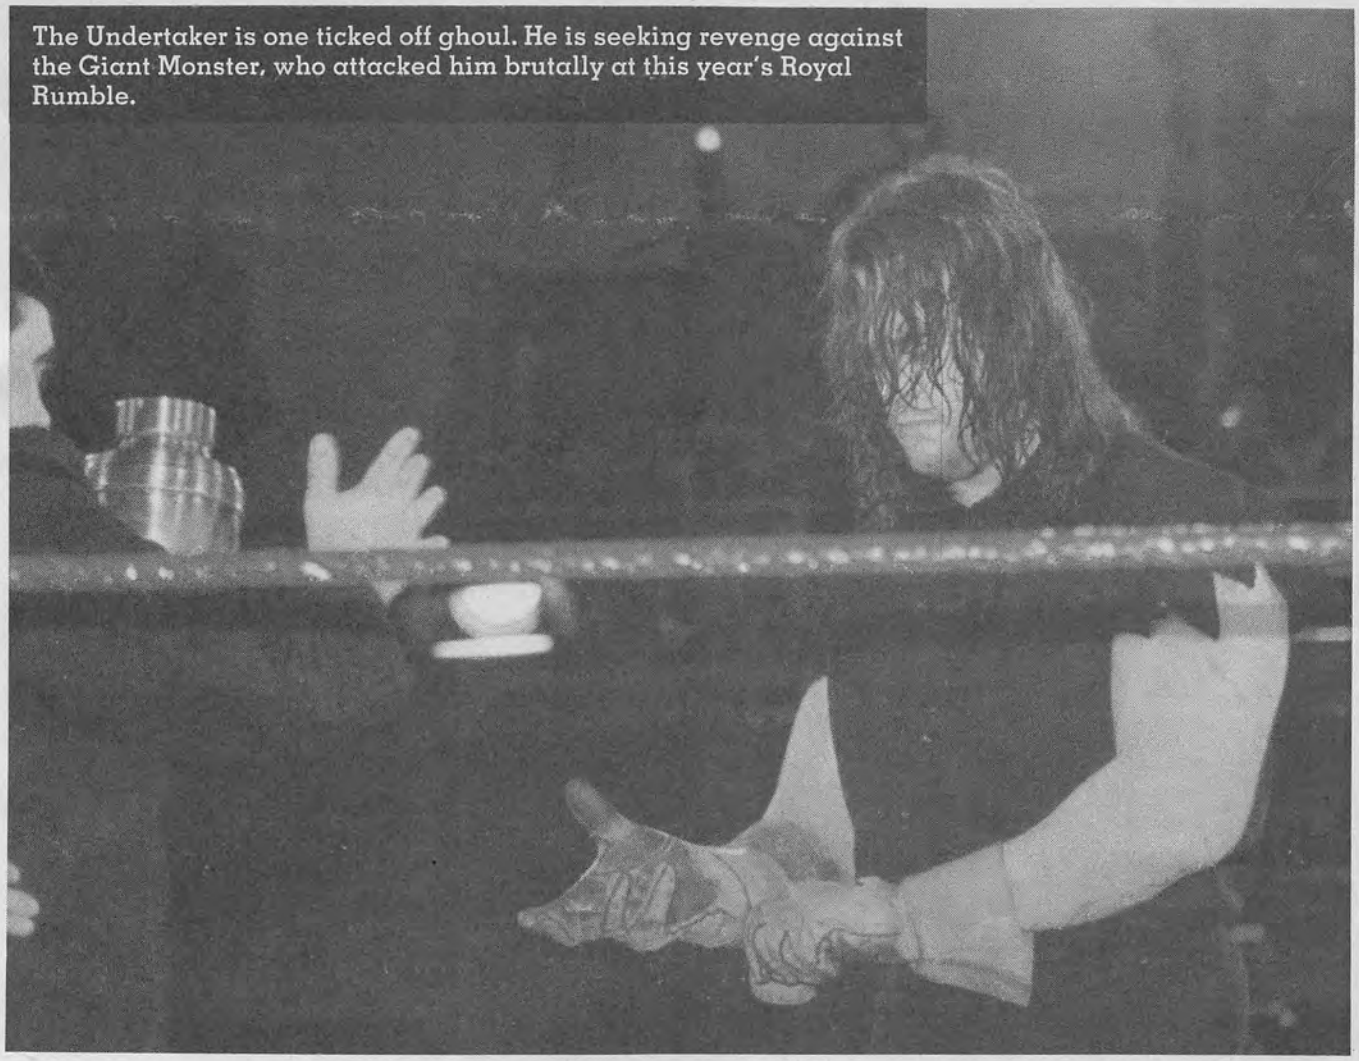
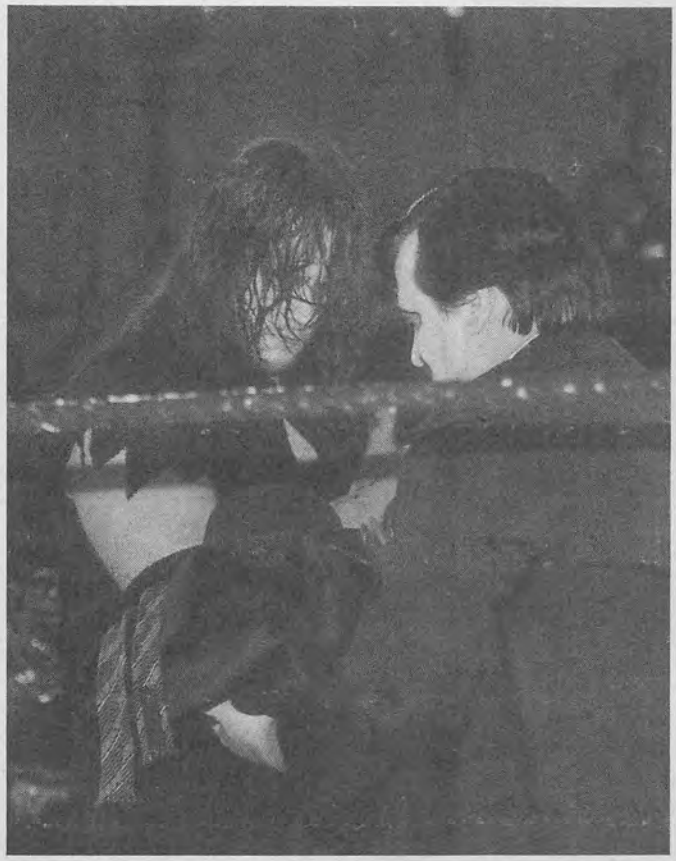
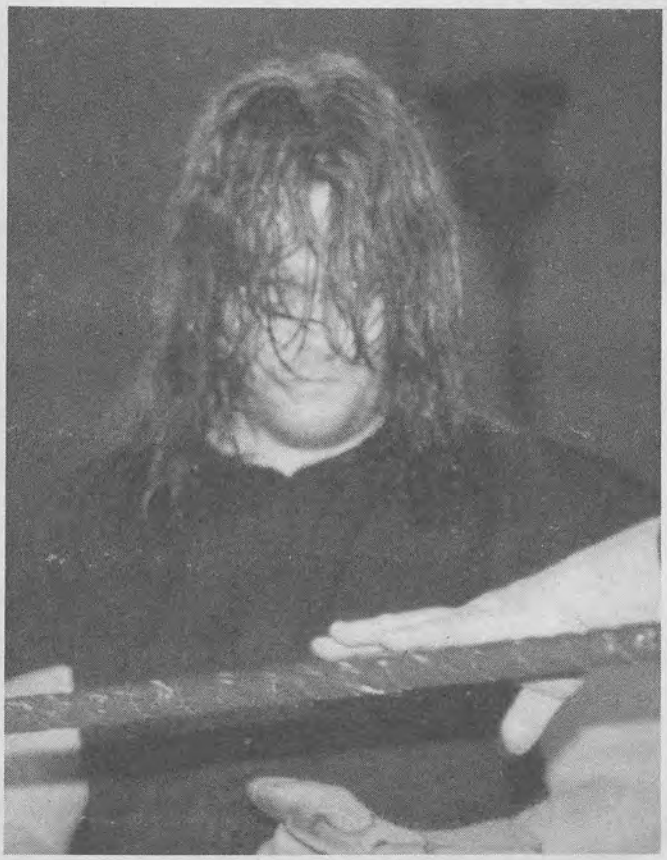
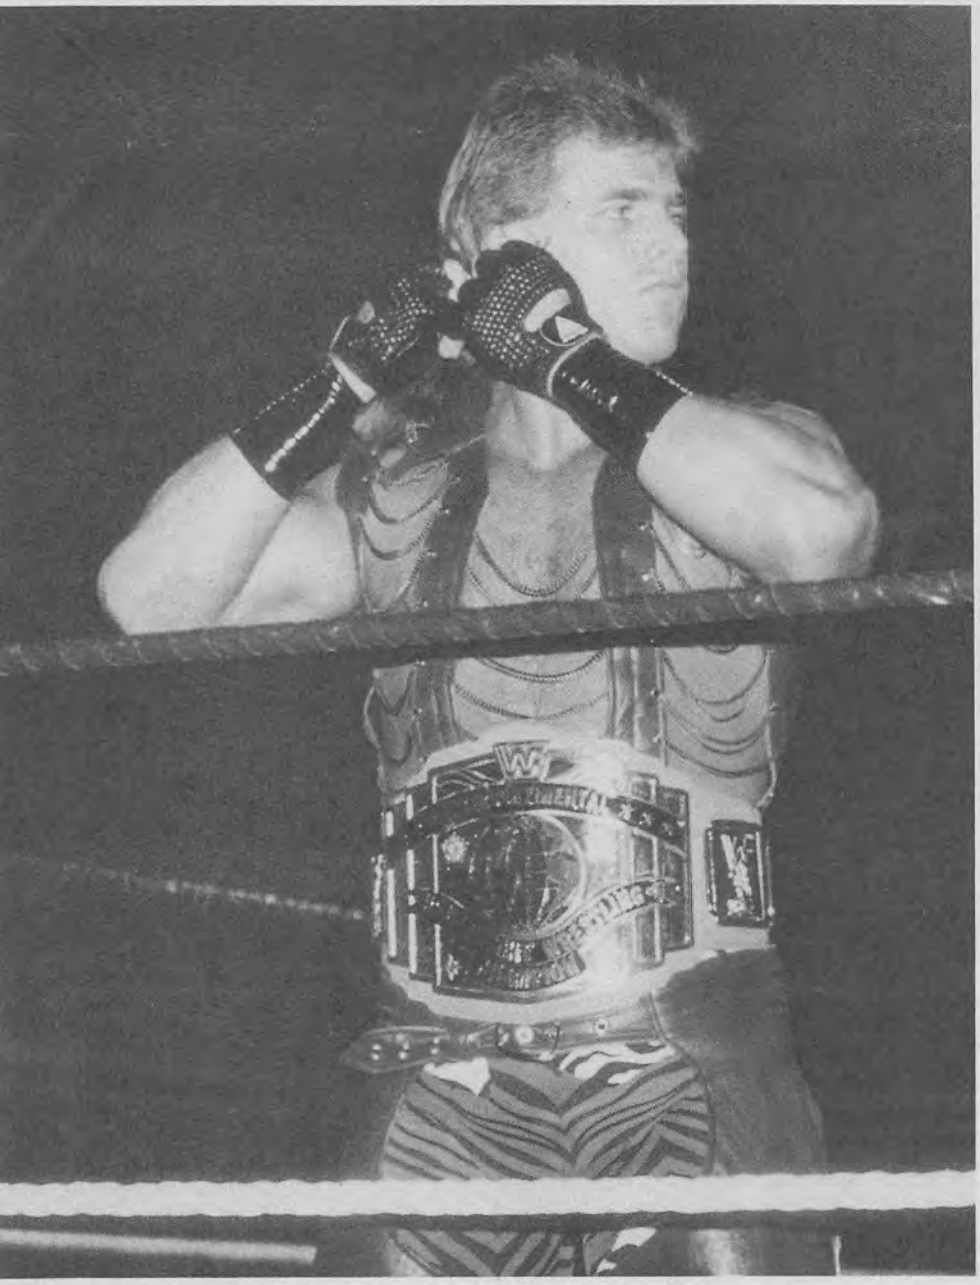
The Undertaker is one ticked off ghoul. He is seeking revenge against the Giant Monster, who attacked him brutally at this year's Royal Rumble.

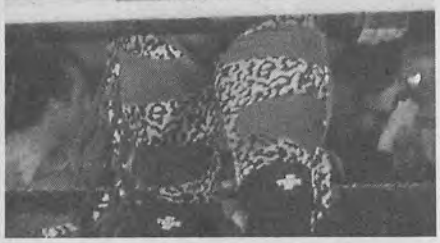


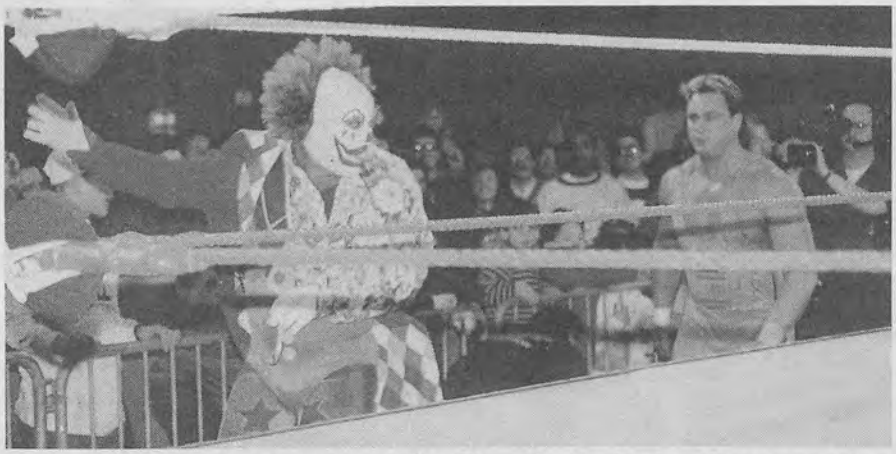




Shawn Michaels vs Marty Jannetty for the Intercontinental belt. Just about everybody knows the reasons these two men hate each other. The question remains: What will be Sensational Sherri's role in the match?







Crush is looking to clean Doink the Clown's clock after the concussion he received during a recent TV taping, when the Doinkster clobbered the Hawaiian with an ersatz arm.

could settle that score once and for all.

Look for the Undertaker to challenge the Giant Monster from Argentina, El Gigante. After what the Monster did to the Undertaker at the Royal Rumble, you have to believe that the ghoulish one has revenge on his mind.

Also expected to make a wrestling appearance is Doink the Clown. Doink has been having his problems with Crush and these two are expected to square off at Wrestlemania.

In addition to this tentative line-up, others who will make an appearance at the big event include Kamala, Tatonka, Kimchee, Bob Backlund, Papa Shango and Razor Ramon.

Even with all of these men signed to appear, there remains a BIG question mark hanging over the proceedings:

Will Hulk Hogan be there?

That's what everyone wants to know. As we go to press, our inside sources say, "Don't fear, Hulk will be there!"

Can we believe them?

They have always been correct before, but there is always that chance that a last-minute

Bob Backlund is looking better and better since his return to the World Wrestling Federation. As we go to press, his role at Wrestlemania remains unclear.

Razor Ramon, the man with the toothpick and the machismo, will be at Wrestlemania—you can count on that!

snag will develop. Hopefully, the Hulkster will play a prominent role. What's Wrestlemania without Hulk Hogan, anyway?

Hulk Hogan has been the focal point of every Wrestlemania ever since the very first one in New York's Madison Square Garden. If the Hulkster does not make it to Wrestlemania 9, there will be a dark cloud hanging over Las Vegas.

Even without the prospect of Hulk Hogan playing a major role, Wrestlemania 9 should be a good one. The matches that have already been signed are highly competitive. The participants are ready. The hype has already begun.

Wrestlemania is wrestling's equivalent of the Super Bowl. When the whistle blows to start the proceedings on April 4, everyone will be psyched and ready for the event of the year. ★

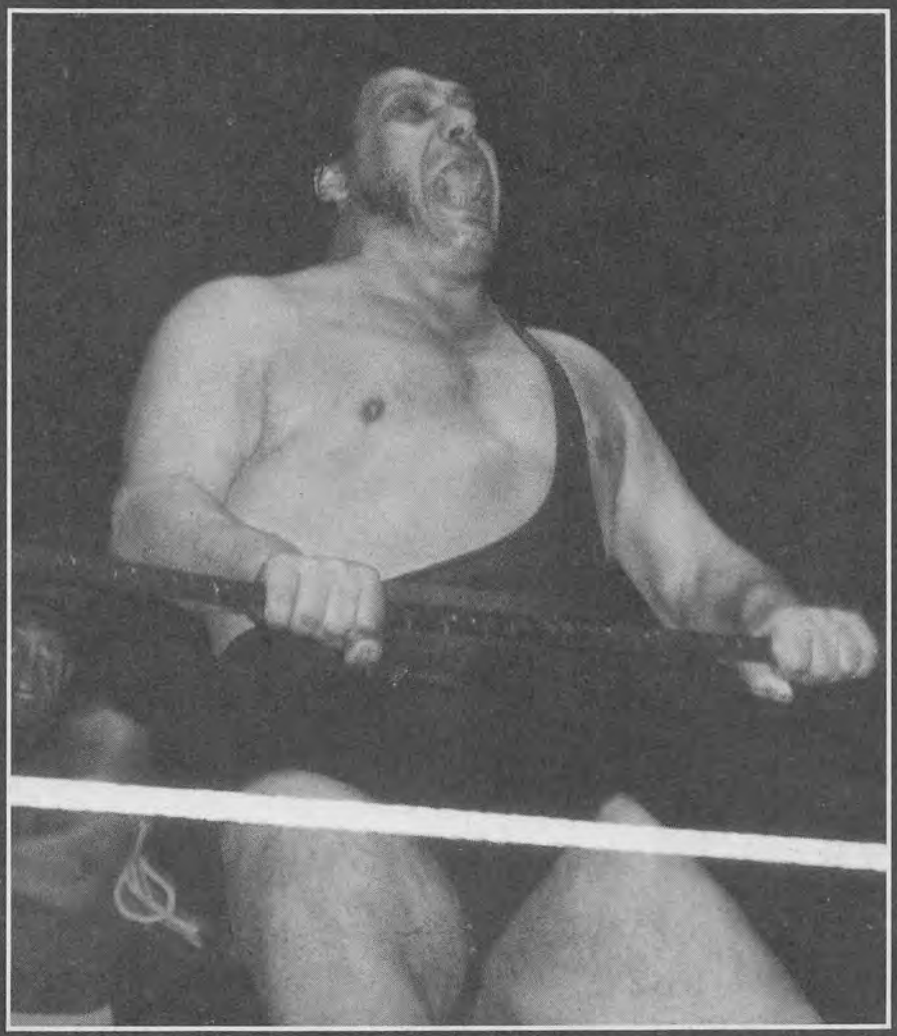
ANDRE THE GIANT, 46, IS DEAD



Andre the Giant, dead at 46.

Dies in sleep, of apparent heart attack

Professional wrestling legend Andre Rene Roussimoff—known to fans all around the world as Andre the Giant—recently died in a Paris hotel room of an apparent heart attack. Ironically, Andre was in France to attend the funeral of his father.

"He was lying in his bed when they found him," said Andre's longtime friend Frenchie Bernard. "He just went to sleep and never woke up."

Andre's body was cremated and returned to Ellerbe, North Carolina, where Andre lived on a 200-acre property.

In addition to wrestling, Andre was known for his appearance in the Rob Reiner film, THE PRINCESS BRIDE (1989), in which he played the gentle giant Fezzick. ★

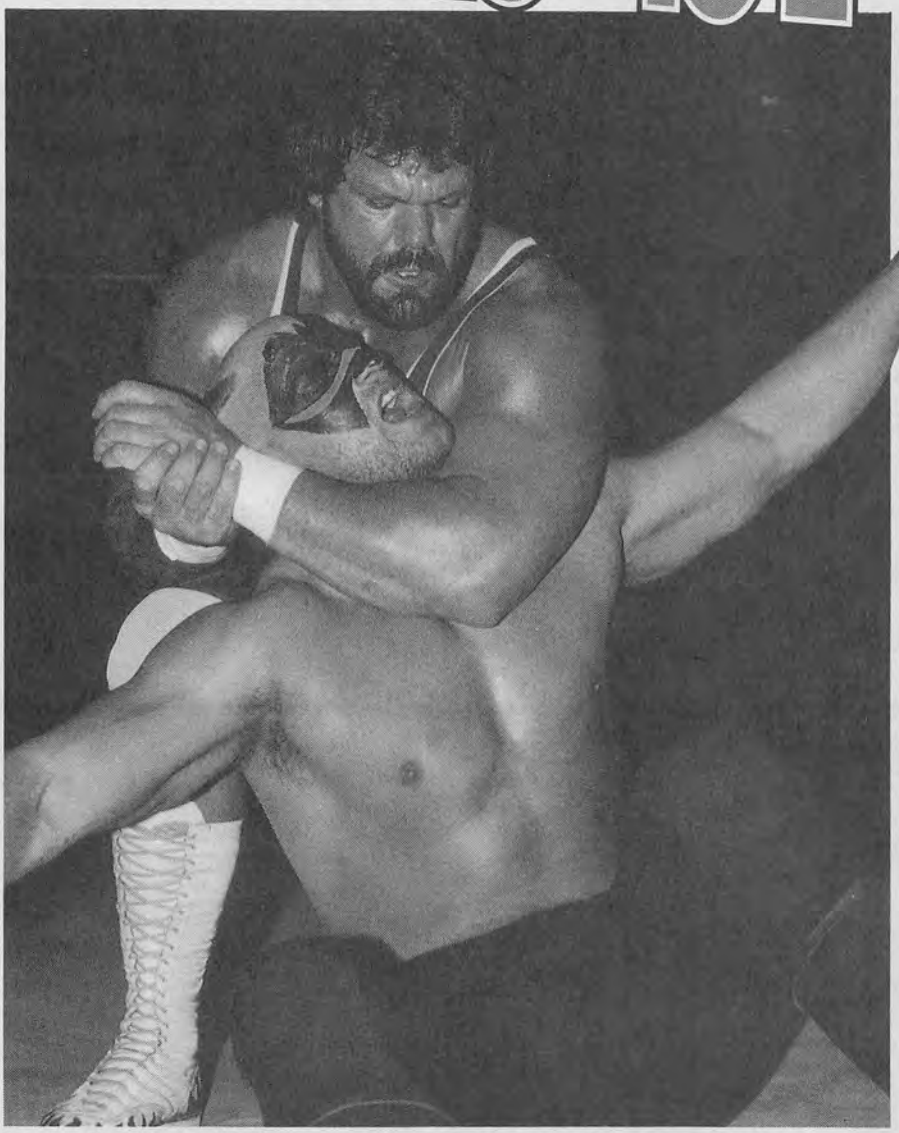
FANS SPEAK



Steve "Dr. Death" Williams, shown here clamping a headlock on Hawk, gave Ron Simmons just about all he could handle at Starrcade.

Vader: Hit Sting with a sickening splash.

DYNAMITE DRAGON & DYNAMIC DUDE!

Dear ALL STARS:

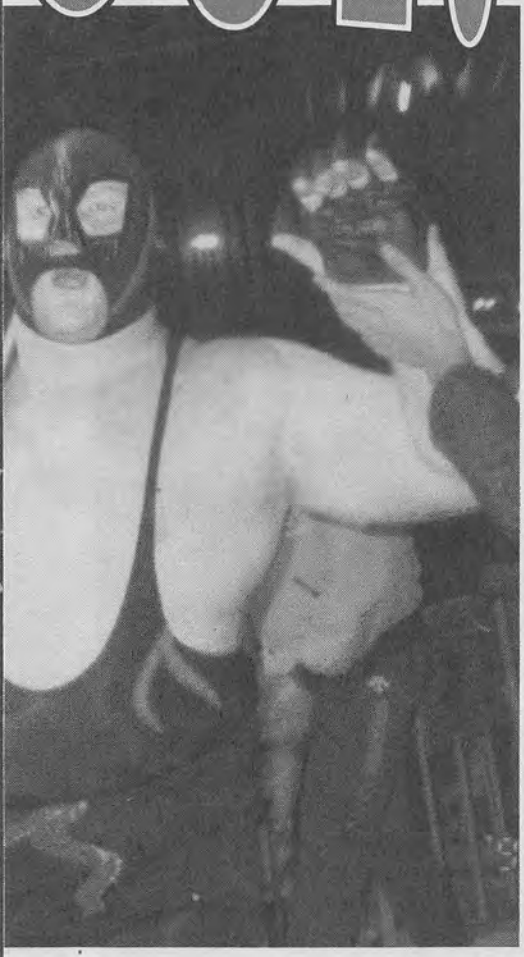
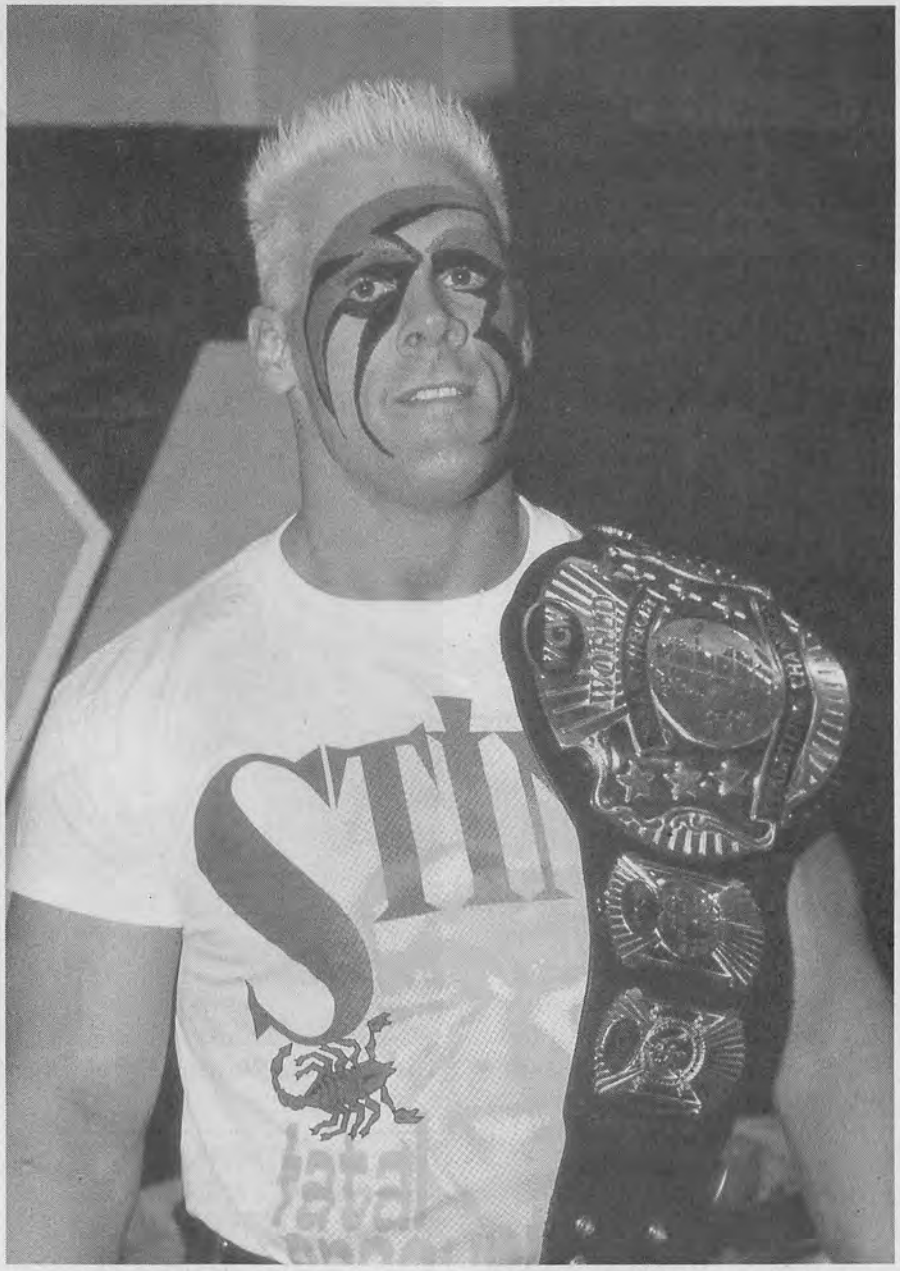
When Ricky "The Dragon" Steamboat and Shane Douglas won the World Championship Wrestling Tag Team Championship, I thought that they wouldn't hold onto the belts for a week. I figured the first decent duo to challenge them would take the straps away from them. After all, Steamboat and Douglas won the belts in a farce of a match, when Dustin Rhodes refused to pin Steamboat after inadvertantly nailing him with a low blow. It didn't seem like the start of a long championship run to me, if you know what I mean. But now I am starting to change my tune. I was very impressed with the way Steamboat and Douglas defeated Flyin' Brian Pillman and Barry Windham at Starrcade. I may have lost money on that match, but I won't make that mistake again.

Vernon Bundy
New Orleans LA

(EDITORS' NOTE: Please, Vernon, no wagering.)

OUT!





Sure, Sting defeated Big Van Vader in the King of Cable match, but can the Stinger defeat the 400-pounder one more time and recapture his WCW belt?

Shane Douglas: Dynamic dude.

STING'S SWEET REVENGE!

Dear ALL STARS:

I felt so sorry for Sting after that big fat slob, Big Van Vader, jumped off the top rope and caved in his ribs with a sickening splash. Now that the Stinger has defeated Vader at Starrcade and, in the process, has become the King of Cable, I feel much better. Whoever said it was right: revenge is sweet!

RABID OVER RAZOR!

Dear ALL STARS:

I usually don't write to magazines. I've never been the sort of fan who wrote fan letters or went up to celebrities to ask for their autograph or anything like that, but this time I just had to let my feelings be known! I think that Razor Ramon is the hottest guy in the world. I don't think there is a greater wrestler anywhere—and I know deep down in my heart that it is only a matter of time before he becomes the World Wrestling Federation Heavyweight Champion! Could you pass a message on to him for me? Tell him how much I love him, and wish him luck in his upcoming title matches. Oh, and by the way, I think that WRESTLING ALL STARS HEROES AND VILLAINS is the greatest wrestling magazine around. Keep up the good work!

Janet Conforti
Bend OR

(EDITORS' NOTE: Consider the message passed along, Janet. Thanks for the kind words.)

WE SEE ALL, KNOW ALL!

Dear ALL STARS:

I loved your article on The Ultimate Maniacs, the one where you said that they were never going to make it as a tag team because their egos were going to get in the way. Boy, you couldn't have been more right. You guys really know how to predict the future! You must be prophets!

Joseph Campisi
Kansas City MO

(EDITORS' NOTE: All in all, Joe, we care more about profits than prophets!)

MUTA LOOKED MAHHHH-VELOUS!

Dear ALL STARS:

When I first saw The Great Muta wrestle, I thought he was the best thing to come down the pike in years. His moves were awesome. Now that Muta is the winner of the Starrcade Battlebowl, I guess everybody knows how great he is!

Louis Jolyan West
Sacremento, CA

The Ultimate Warrior: His ego outweighs his common sense.

SIMPLY SPECTACULAR SIMMONS!

Dear ALL STARS:

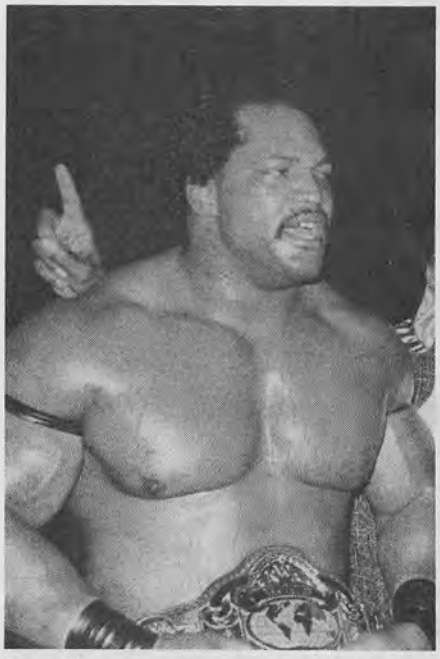
A lot of experts (at least the ones in my neighborhood) thought that Ron Simmons was going to choke and lose his WCW World Heavyweight Championship belt when his opponent at Starrcade was switched from Ravishing Rick Rude to Steve "Dr. Death" Williams—but it didn't happen, just like I said it wouldn't. Simmons may be the best wrestler in the world right now. He is my prediction for the best wrestler of the nineties! Now we know he can adapt, too. Long may the "All-American" reign!

Lawrence Howard
Miami Beach, FL



Ron Simmons is now on the list (a list that's growing longer every day) of those who want to get their hands on Big Van Vader.

Can a Sumo master become a WWF champ?

IF HE'S YOKOZUNA, HE CAN!

By GEORGE NAPOLITANO

Huge, massive, gargantuan are just a few words that have been used to describe Yokozuna, the biggest man to wrestle in the World Wrestling Federation in the past two decades.

Not since the late, great Haystacks Calhoun—the 601-pound "neighbor" from Morgans Corner, Arkansas—roamed the WWF, has there been a man nearly as huge as Yokozuna. Although Yokozuna is large, don't think for a second that he can't move around the ring. Nothing could be farther from the truth. Yokozuna is extremely quick and agile on his feet, and he uses this quickness to set up his opponents for his "Bonzai Splash" off the second rope.

Once Yokozuna pounces on his poor unsuspecting opponent, it's all over. So far no one has been able to escape Yokozuna's wrath and if Mr. Fuji—Yokozuna's manager and mentor—is correct, no one ever will.

"Yokozuna is the best man I've ever managed," Fuji stated. "I've seen many, many stars in my career, but only a very few could match up to Yokozuna. Right now he is Ichiban in the WWF. No one else even comes close to my man. I discovered Yokozuna while touring the Hawaiian Islands. While there, friends told me about this great big, young Sumo master who lived nearby. They told me he could be a champion wrestler. I was very interested in meeting him and the moment I saw him I knew he had it. Then, after I watched him in action, I was amazed. The man was outstanding. After his dazzling display we talked, and the next day I took him to Maui to begin training to become a professional wrestler. You've already seen Yokozuna destroy Virgil, Tito Santana, Hacksaw Duggan and even the Big Boss Man. Who's next, you wonder? Mr. Perfect and then the champion Bret Hart! Mr. Fuji has a plan and it will be carried out to perfection. Before 1993 comes to an end, everyone all over the world will be talking about the new champion, Yokozuna!"

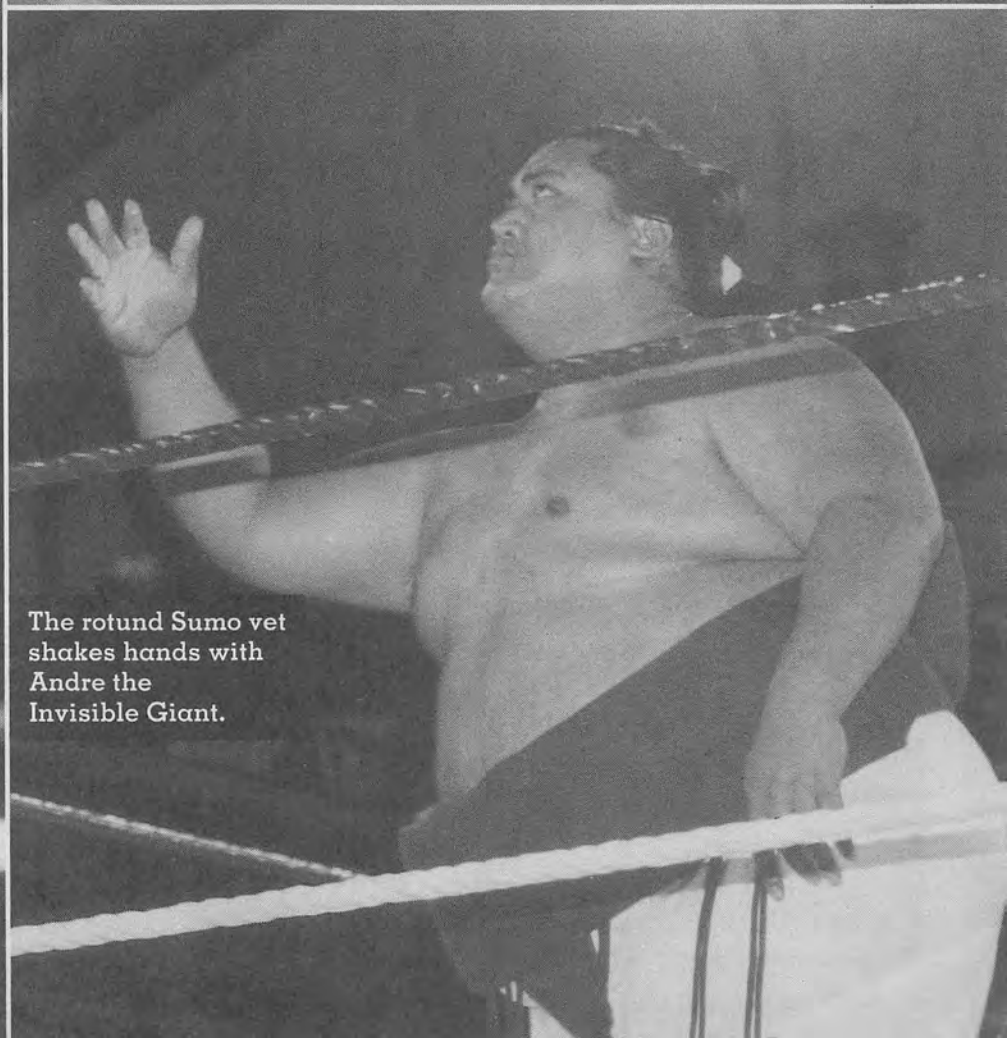
Yokozuna has to be seen to be believed. The man really is good. Although he's certainly not in the class of Bret Hart or Shawn Michaels right

A nuclear experiment gone haywire? No, it's Yokozuna!

Yokozuna breaks open this man's ribcage like it was shredded wheat!

Boss Man is mincemeat—no ifs, ands or butts.

Yokozuna turns the other cheek.



The rotund Sumo vet shakes hands with Andre the Invisible Giant.

Yokozuna's wants and needs are tended to by lovely geisha girls.

Yokozuna kneels before his master, Mr. Fuji.

now, by wrestling night after night against the WWF's best, Yokozuna is bound to get better. During Yokozuna's first appearance in the N.J. Meadowlands Arena, no one expected him to beat his opponent, the Big Boss Man, but by the end of the battle, Yokozuna had made believers out of everyone in the arena. Yokozuna has nowhere to go but up. If his manager, Mr. Fuji, takes his protege along slowly and guides him each and every step of the way, the massive Polynesian is bound to have a very successful career. Barring any unforeseen circumstances, Yokozuna will be the talk of the Federation in 1993. ★

Manager Mr. Fuji promises that Mr. Perfect and Bret "The Hitman" Hart are next on Yokozuna's hit list!

A message for Sting:

IF YOU WANT TO STAY ON TOP, GET MEAN!

This is the way Sting appeared when he was the WCW World Heavyweight Champ—not so long ago!

By DONNY LAIBLE

Be honest. Do you think Sting gives a hoot that he's King of Cable? Or better yet, just how valuable to his heart is the Battle Bowl '91 ring presented to him by baseball Hall of Famer Hank Aaron? Sure, those plaques and jewelry pieces have found a resting place in his trophy case—but a rather large space remains reserved for the most meaningful award of all: World Championship Wrestling's heavyweight belt.

Stinger, it's going to be extremely difficult to capture the title again, but if you do, turn your back immediately on those you call friends. Jealousy is the root of all evil in WCW. Sting, you had better wake up from that dream you have been living since turning pro in 1985. Wrestling's not as simple as black and white, good and evil. There are shades of gray. For once, put the "little Stingers" aside. Most any professional athlete will state without hesitation, in sports there is only one law to compete by: do unto others before they do unto you.

And there is no greater example than pro wrestling, where survival of the fittest is an every-day occurrence. He who hesitates, fails. Perhaps this is the best time for Sting to seek new in-ring friendships?

Staying too chummy for too long with the same associates has been known to backfire. Consider the bust up between ex-pals Dustin Rhodes and Barry Windham. Learn from your environment, Sting. You've been a saint far too long for your own good in WCW. It's time to get nasty!

In his eight years as a pro, Sting has become the franchise player for the promotion. The heavyweight crown should be in Sting's corner. He shouldn't waste his time trying to win the U.S. title again. He shouldn't think about the tag belts.

Sting has only so much energy to burn during the course of a match. WCW's grand prize should remain his only goal. Now, by the time this hits the newsstands, Sting may have captured the WCW championship for a third time. Wouldn't Sting like his third reign to be a long one?

Naturally, he would. However, that's not going to happen until Sting stops worrying more about his public image than about crushing his opposition in the quickest and most effective manner.

It would be foolish for Sting to treat Rude differently than Van Hammer. All wrestlers have winning as their main goal. How each goes about realizing that goal is what separates them.

Getting back to the Ravishing One: Rude is not a man to shrug off as just a guy with a hot temper. No, he has made a career out of doing what he promises to do. In reviewing his wrestling biography, the World Wrestling Federation's Inter-Continental belt and the now defunct World Class Championship titles are two of many he has collected.

It's been Rick's style never to submit during a match. He would sooner be carted out of the ring unconscious on a stretcher by the medical corp than cry "uncle." For Sting to fight that fire, he'll have to conjure up some of the same blaze. Better yet, once he establishes a no-nonsense, win-at-all-cost message throughout WCW, opponents will be approaching him with increased caution.

Think of yourself as a cornered cat, Sting. Keep clawing away. Bite. Kick. If you see an advantage, jump at it.

Smarten up, man. Young bucking broncos like Steve Austin, Shane Douglas and When others wear black tie, the Stinger wears Levis. When others arrive in limos, he's on a Harley!

Before going to war, Sting makes sure that his warpaint is on...just...so.

Spin the wheel and make the deal. The Stinger yanks the heavily-muscled leg of Jake the Snake!

Awesome and dangerous action: Sting & Muta in a cage!

We feel Sting could learn a lot from Ravishing Rick Rude—like how to be MEAN, for example!

The Stinger grabs a handful of Cactus Jack's face!

Brian Pillman—so called "good guys" and "bad guys" alike—are seeking wrestling's version of a lifestyle of the rich and famous. Such a reward traditionally has been handed over on a silver platter to the wearer of the heavyweight championship belt.

There's a growing contingency representing New Japan Wrestling Promotions infiltrating WCW, led by The Great Muta, Masa Chono and Kesuke Sasaki. They want to improve their standing in the American wrestling community. As far as they are concerned, the most honorable way leads to claiming the world belt. Here's a new one for you, Sting. If all the challenges suddenly become overwhelming, try this: hire a manager.

You heard that right. Only the best for you, Sting. Who's the top back-stabbing, conniving, loudmouth, but highly successful strategist in WCW? Paul E. Dangerously, of course. Go ahead, dial his number. There's nothing wrong with just talking. At last glance, Dangerously isn't overwhelmed with work.

If you're still concerned with what the "little Stingers" would think of you, grow up! Sting, your family must come first. Your future is their security. Wrestling is an incredibly violent sport. Should you get seriously injured again all the pats on the back and handshakes while hobbling on crutches won't help pay the bills.

Not haunting Ron Simmons during his five months as WCW champion for a title confrontation was a major mistake on your part, Sting. Okay, so your defense is you didn't want to infringe on the friendship between the two of you. Look what happened. Big Van Vader muscled his way to the number-one contender's position and won the championship on December 30, 1992 for a second time. It must be said, we told you so. Go on, get to know Cactus Jack, Danny Spivey, and other rulebreakers. You'd be surprised what can be learned from such a wild bunch.

In many cases, nice guys do finish last. Just how hungry are you to officially remain the franchise player in WCW? Forget the rulebook. Do it for your own good! ★

Hulk Hogan is MR. NANNY!

All Mr. Nanny photos © 1992 New Line Cinema Corp., by Alan Markfield.

The Hulkster learns to keep his pinky out at tea time.

For those of you—yeah, there must be a few of you out there—who have not yet seen the new Hulk Hogan movie, MR. NANNY, here is a little bit about the film's plot:

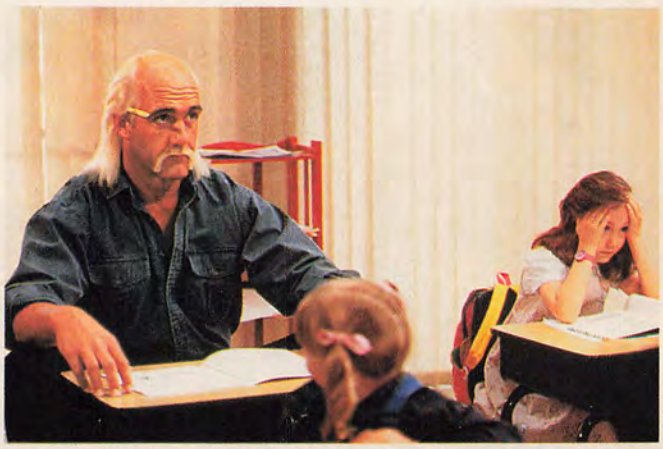
Nothing could have prepared professional wrestler Sean Armstrong (played by Guess Who?) for his latest match: serving as nanny to a couple of rich kids.

Of course, it wouldn't have been a big deal if these were nice, well-behaved kids we were talking about here. But, no way. What kind of a movie would that make? Hulk, naturally enough, has to take care of pure bona fide brats.

He takes the job to help his former manager, Burt Wilson (Sherman Hemsley, George Jefferson on THE JEFFERSONS), out of a financial jam.

The two bra--, uh, kids are named Alex and Kate Mason (played by Robert Gorman and Madeline Zima), and they have endured a parade of nannies since their mother died. Their father, the brilliant inventor Alex Mason Sr. (Austin Pendleton), has thrown himself into his work, ignoring his children and their needs. Lonely, the kids have turned to destruction as a means of self-expression. Booby-trapping nannies is their favorite pastime and the

Sean and his manager Burt Wilson (Sherman Hemsley) think back on the good ol' days.



Sean Armstrong (Hulk Hogan, left) has varied duties as a nanny. Here he is with Kate Mason (Madeline Zima, right) in class.

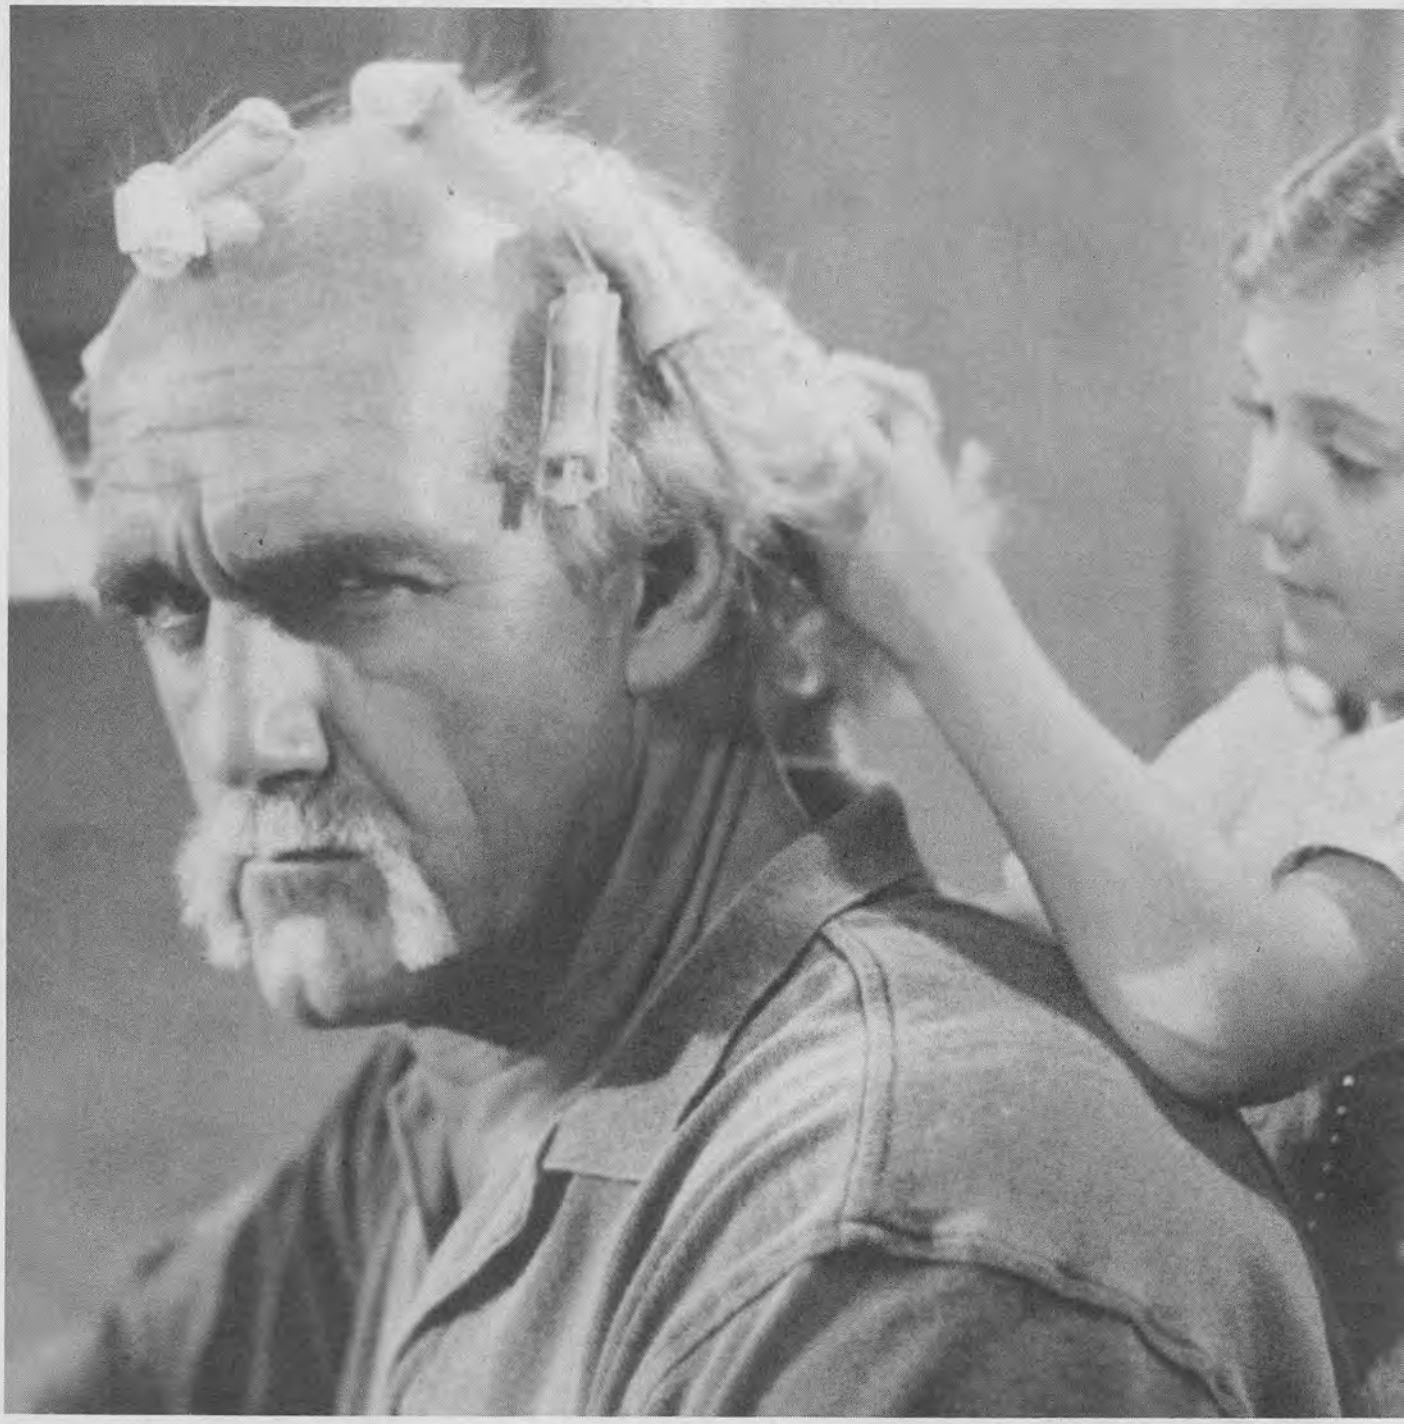
The Hulkster in a tutu? Seeing is believing!

Our hero goes to hair-curling lengths to please his feminine charge.



pro wrestler is about to become their latest victim.

At first the wrestler doesn't seem like much of a fan of kids, but underneath Sean Armstrong's rough exterior is a softie of a heart.

Complicating matters, the kids' dad has invented a microchip that controls an anti-missile device. The picture's villain, Tommy Thanatos (David Johansen, a.k.a. Buster Poindexter), will stop at nothing to get a hold of that computer chip.

Thanatos, as it turns out, once had a feud with our hero, so when push comes to shove it looks like it's gonna be up to Mr. Nanny to save the world!

Hulk says in this film he has "stepped over the line" as an actor, the gentle strength of his character exposing a vulnerable side of himself that he hopes audiences will respond to.

Hogan made his motion picture debut in ROCKY III. He also appeared in GREMLINS II, and of course had starring roles in NO HOLDS BARRED, and SUBURBAN COMMANDO.

The wrestling superstar's TV credits include appearances on THE A-TEAM, DOLLY and STORIES FROM GROWING UP. As a cartoon character, he was the star of CBS's HULK HOGAN'S ROCK AND WRESTLING.

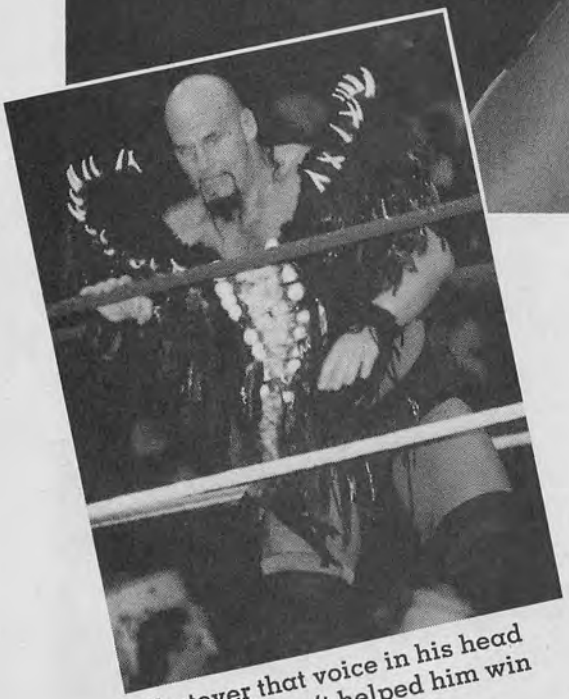
Pay attention when watching MR. NANNY. Brutus "The Barber" Beefcake and George "The Animal" Steele appear as themselves.

MR. NANNY was directed by Michael Gottlieb, produced by Bob Engelman and written by Gottlieb and Edward Rugoff. It is a New Line Cinema Production. ★

Kate (Madeline Zima, with hands on face) reacts with embarrassment as her nanny enjoys a good read.

Sure, Hulk has taken on larger opponents in his day, but what Alex and Kate Mason lack in muscle, they make up for in mischief.

The man with the pickled brain tears at Bob Backlund's right nostril.



Whatever that voice in his head is, it sure hasn't helped him win matches!

DOES DOINK DESIGN DEMENTO'S DESTRUCTIVE DRIVE?

Some suspect the sick clown pulls the strings of the WWF's latest looney!

By GEORGE NAPOLITANO

Over the years, the WWF has always attracted its share of weirdos. From George "The Animal" Steele to Bugsy McGraw, these lunatics all found a home in the World Wrestling Federation. Now the WWF has attracted another crazy and this one goes by the name of Damien Demento. Needless to say, the name fits this character to a tee. By his actions both inside and outside of the ring Damien Demento has certainly proven to be true to his name. He is a certifiable lunatic. What he's doing in the ring is anyone's guess. The man simply doesn't have a clue how to conduct himself inside the ropes. Although Damien seems to know several holds and moves, the moment he's ready to move in for kill, he Looks like Backlund has the leverage advantage and that Demento's about to go for a ride!

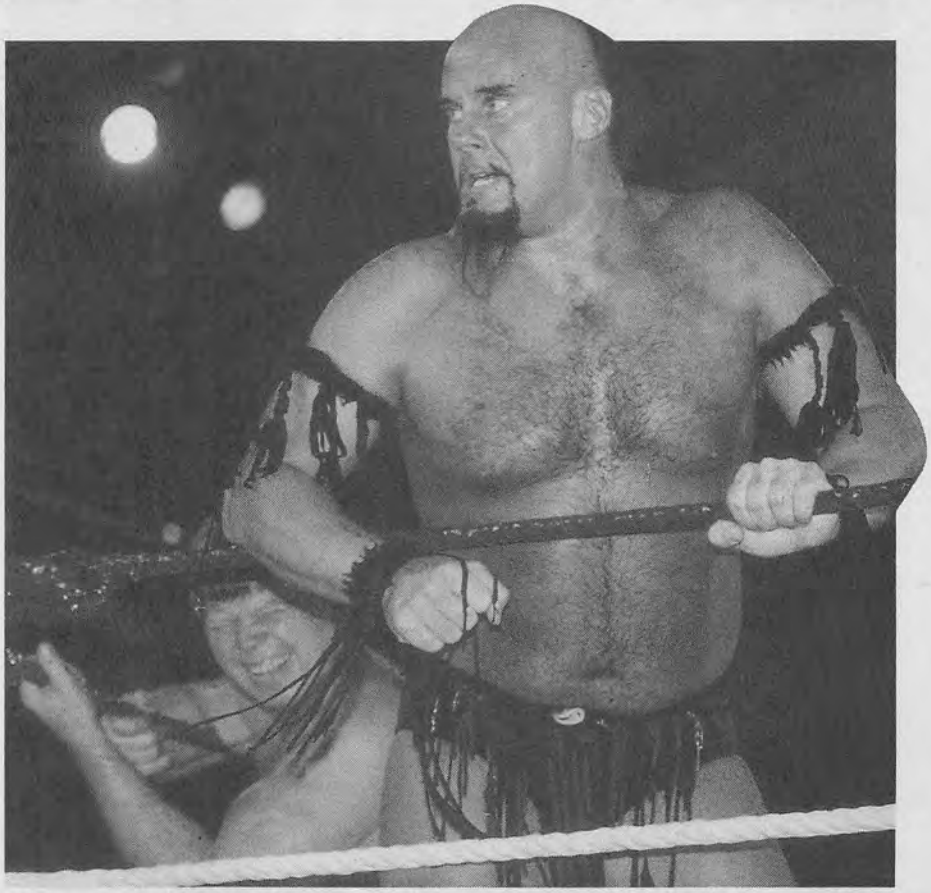
stops dead in his tracks, looks skyward and begins to talk to the demons in his mind! These conversations with himself have turned what could have been victories into bitter defeats! It's been hinted by some that Damien is somehow in telepathic communication with Doink the Clown. If this is so, then Doink has been playing a big joke on Damien as his instructions have not been helping Mr. Demento to win his matches. What Damien desperately needs, however, is a real manager to guide him through life. When George "The Animal" Steel, Bugsy McGraw and the Moondogs wrestled in the WWF they were managed by Captain Lou Albano. In fact, whenever anyone of questionable intelligence showed up in the WWF, it was automatically assumed that Captain Lou was behind



If Damian looks familiar, maybe you remember him when he was the IWCCW champ and wrestled under the name Mondo Kleen.

He's possessed all right, but by whom? Doink? Satan? The Home Shopping Network?

them. If any one can use the guidance, wisdom and experience of Captain Lou Albano, Dementо can. "I've been keeping my eye on the wrestling scene, but right now I'm too busy with my other projects to devote my full time and energy to the sport," says the Captain.

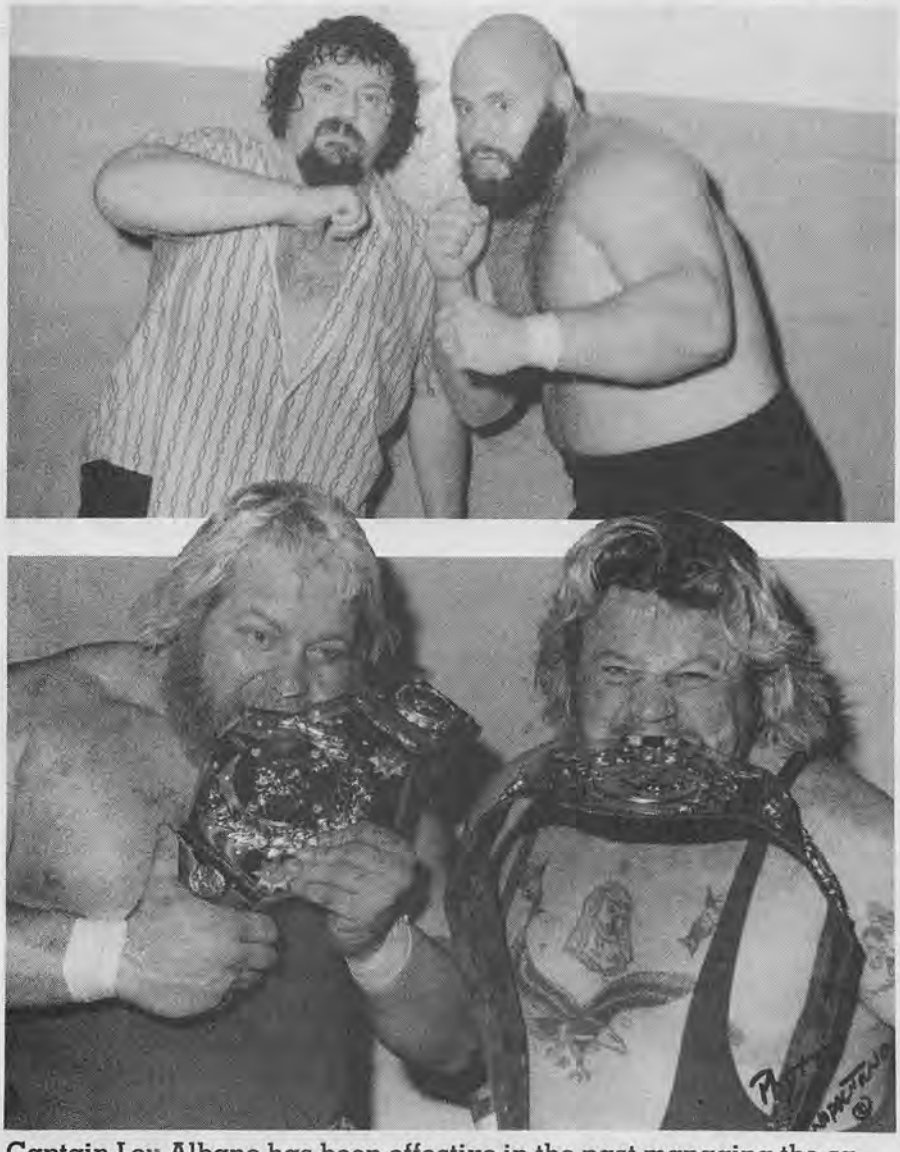
"I know what's happening with the WCW, the IWCCW, the UWA, the UWF, IWA, the QXYZ and even the WWF, but right now I'm not interested in doing anything with the sport. Maybe if the right offer came around I would change my mind. But not now!"

When the Captain was asked if he knew of Damien Dementо, his eyes lit up! "Now that's my kind of guy. If I had him, he would be champion. He's got the potential, but he needs guidance. He needs someone like yours truly to make him a star. Maybe Jimmy Hart should look into purchasing his contract. I made millions with guys other people wouldn't touch. If I was still active, Damien Dementо would definitely be in my stable. Who knows, maybe I'll set up telepathic communication with Damien from my living room. Now that would be something!"

Before entering the WWF, Damien toiled for years on the independent circuit. At the time he was known as Mondo Kleen, but he was still the same crazy lunatic that we see now. Prior to his WWF debut, Damien held the IWF heavyweight title and the IWCCW title. But it's obvious that Damien is having a much rougher time of it now than when he was a free agent.

Looking at him, one has to admit that Damien has the tools to be a good one, but he'll never make it past the preliminaries unless one of the managers in the WWF takes him under his wing. Certainly "Little" Jimmy Hart could use a big, burly bodyguard as wild and as crazy as Damien Damento to fend off the attacks of the Nasty Boys and the Natural Disasters. If Hart controlled Dementо, then he wouldn't have to look both ways every time he steps out of a car or into an arena. Right now Jimmy Hart is a marked man and he could certainly use Dementо as "protection."

Whether or not Dementо leaves his mark in the WWF remains to be seen, but by his mere presence he adds his name to the illustrious list of loonies who have toiled over the years in the WWF rings.★



Captain Lou Albano has been effective in the past managing the careers of wrestlers with mental difficulties of one sort or another. Here's the Cap'n with Bugsy McGraw (bald) and The Moondogs, Rex & King.

CLASH OF THE CHAMPIONS!

Cactus cleans house!

Official results!

Broadcast live over WTBS SuperStation from The Mecca in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, January 13, 1993.

Announcers: Jim Ross, Jesse "The Body" Ventura.

Cactus Jack pinned Johnny B. Badd. The pin came after Johnny B. Badd missed a high-risk move off the top rope and knocked himself silly.

Two-Cold Scorpio pinned Scotty Flamingo. Scorpio put Flamingo away with a full somersault in mid-air off the top rope onto the pretty boy's chest.

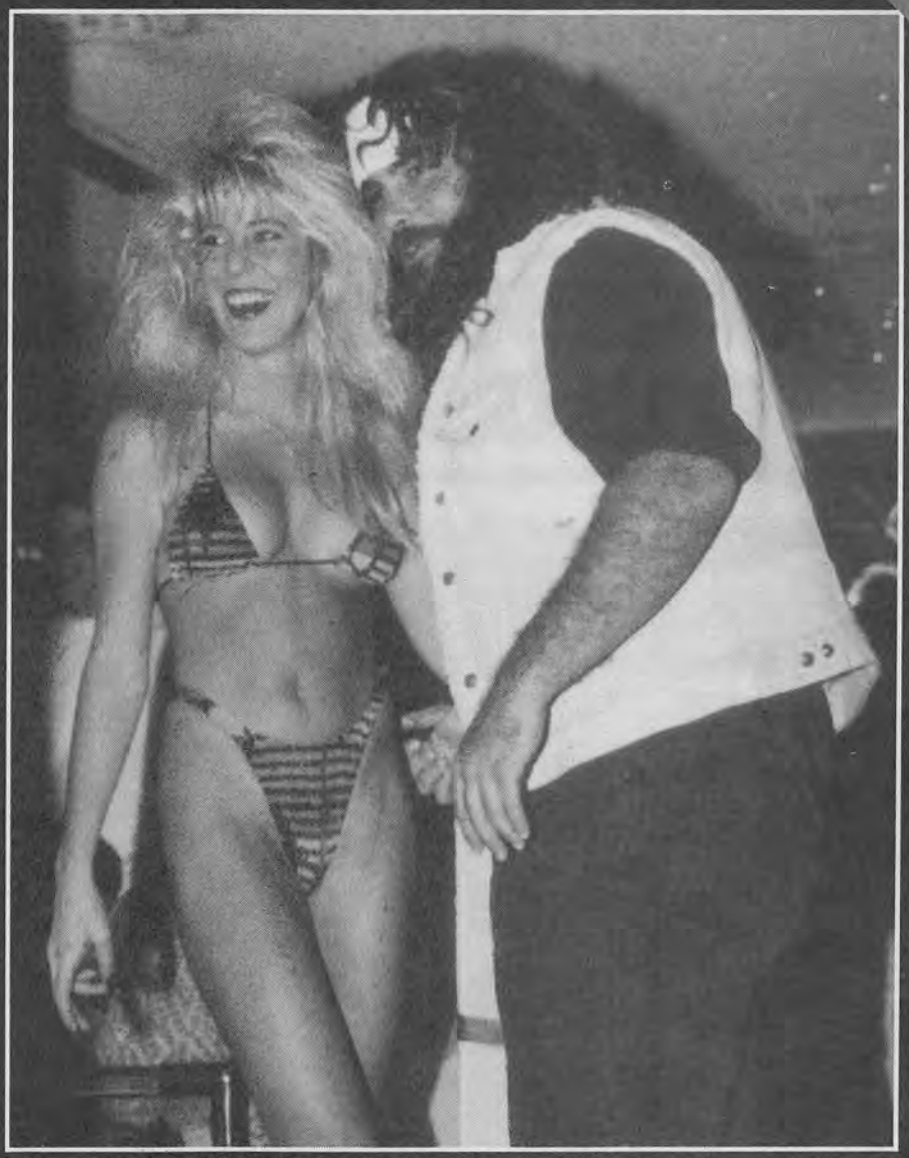
Chris Benoit pinned Brad Armstrong. In this exceptionally scientific match-up, Benoit ended it with a full nelson into a German suplex.

Vinnie Vegas defeated Tony "Mr. USA" Atlas in arm wrestling.

The Wrecking Crew (Rage and Fury) defeated Z-Man and Johnny Gunn. The Crew made a successful debut in WCW.

The WCW World Tag Team Champions, Shane Douglas and Ricky "The Dragon" Steamboat successfully defended their belts by defeating Flyin' Brian Pillman and Stunning Steve Austin via disqualification. Austin earned his team the DQ by hitting Douglas in the face with one of the gold belts, thus slicing open a huge cut in Shane's forehead.

Special Thundercage Match: This match was originally intended to be a three on four matchup with the team of Sting, Ron Simmons and Dustin Rhodes taking on Paul Orndorff, The Barbarian, Big Van Vader and Barry Windham. But, before the match started, Harley Race decided that The Barbarian didn't belong on Vader's team. The other three beat the crap out of him so that he was unable to compete. The same men then ambushed Ron Simmons so that he too would not be able to meet his ring obligation. The match started as a two on three, with Sting and Rhodes battling Orndorff, Vader and Windham. Then Cactus Jack showed up at ringside with a pair of rope-cutters and cut his way into the Thundercage. That evened up the sides. Cactus Jack hammered his foes with his boot, finally pinning Orndorff to win the match.



Some folks say that Cactus is nuts. On the other hand, some folks say he ain't!

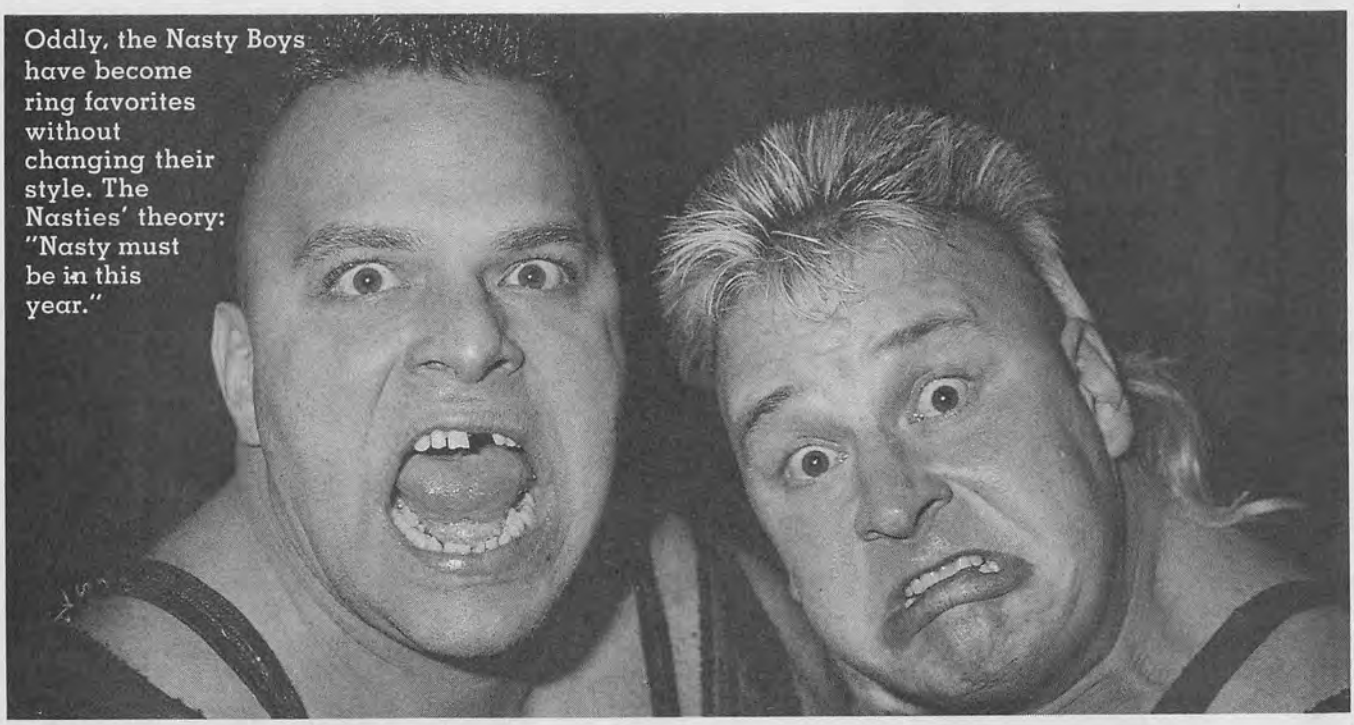
USA WRESTLING



Oddly, the Nasty Boys have become ring favorites without changing their style. The Nasties' theory: "Nasty must be in this year."

WWF CHAMPION: BRET HART TAG TEAM CHAMPIONS: IRS AND THE MILLION DOLLAR MAN INTERCONTINENTAL CHAMPION: SHAWN MICHAELS

WWF champion Bret Hart has proven to be a real fighting champion. Since winning the belt, Hart has successfully put his title on the line against such standouts as the Berzerker, Papa Shango, Nailz, Shawn Michaels and, most recently, Razor Ramon. Hart defeated the Cubano with his patented "Sharpshooter" in Sacramento at the Royal Rumble. Now Hart will defend his belt against the winner of the Royal Rumble, the huge Yokozuna, at Wrestlemania. This will be Hart's toughest test yet as champion.

Marty Jannetty has returned to the WWF and his goal is to settle his score with current Intercontinental Champion, Shawn Michaels.

By now everyone knows the history of those two men and they continue to add a new chapter each and every time they step into the ring against each other. Right now, Sensational Sherri, the lady behind the break up, is in Marty Jannetty's corner, and this should cause Michaels quite a bit of grief. Possibly it could even be the secret ingredient that Jannetty needs to strip Michaels of the title.

Bob Backlund looks better and better each and every time he wrestles. Backlund put up quite a mighty struggle in the Royal Rumble, lasting over one hour before finally being eliminated. You can bet we will be seeing quite a bit more of the ex-champ in the months ahead.

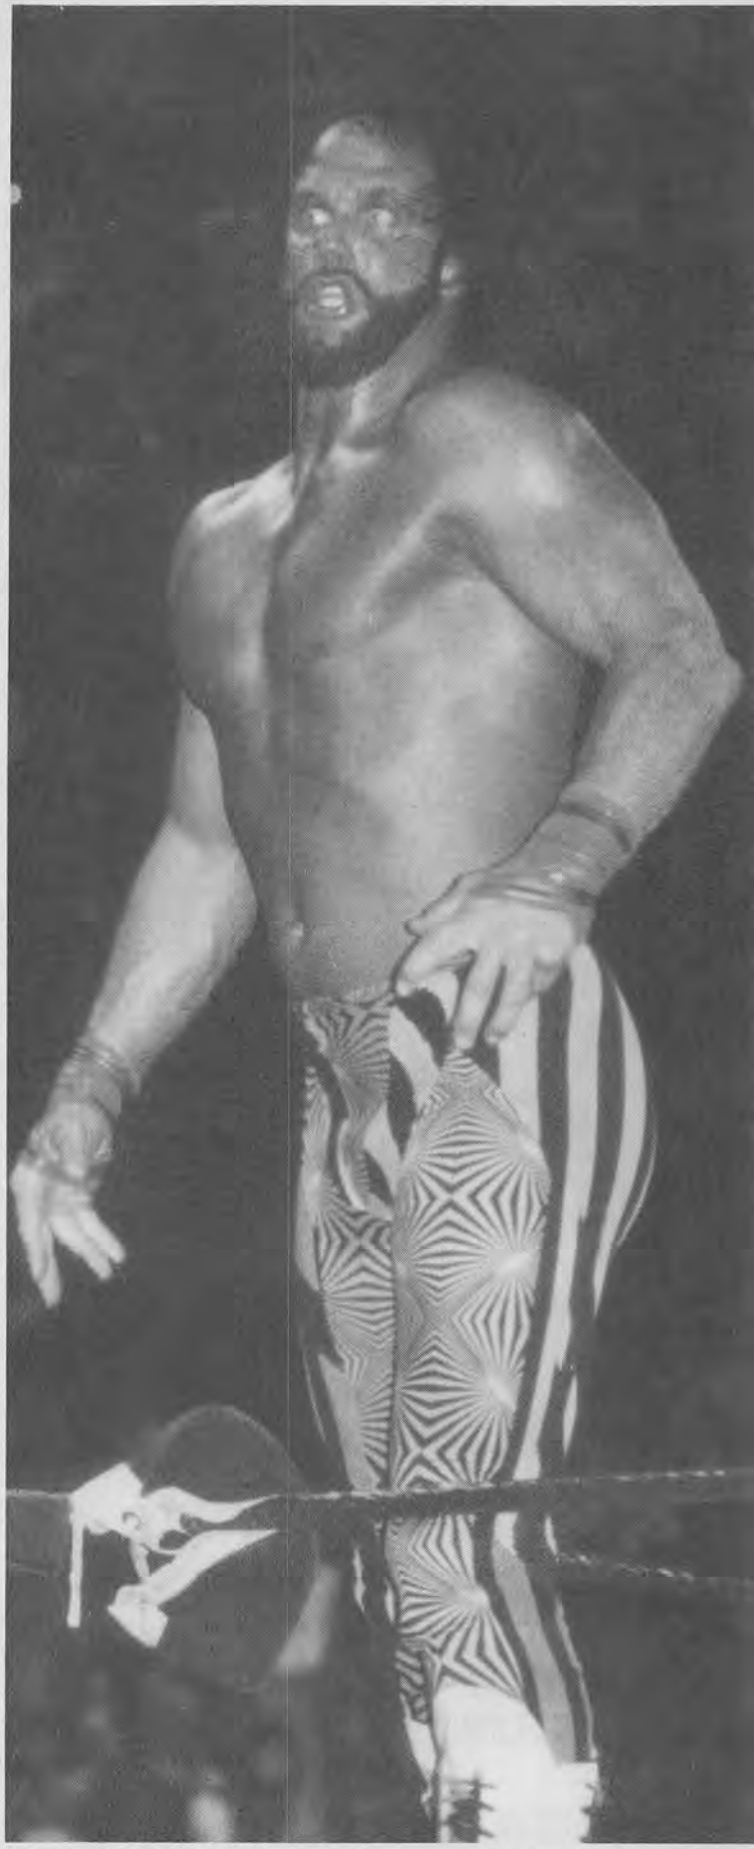
Who is the mysterious Giant Monster who interfered with the Royal Rumble, you wonder? It's no one other than El Gigante! You can be sure that the Giant will be the next big WWF Superstar.

The biggest disappointment so far this year has to be Doink the Clown. Doink even makes the Gobble Gooker look good by comparison.

Say goodbye to Ric Flair! The Nature Boy lost a loser-leave-the-WWF battle to Mr. Perfect at a taping of Monday Night Raw. Now Flair is free to return to WCW.

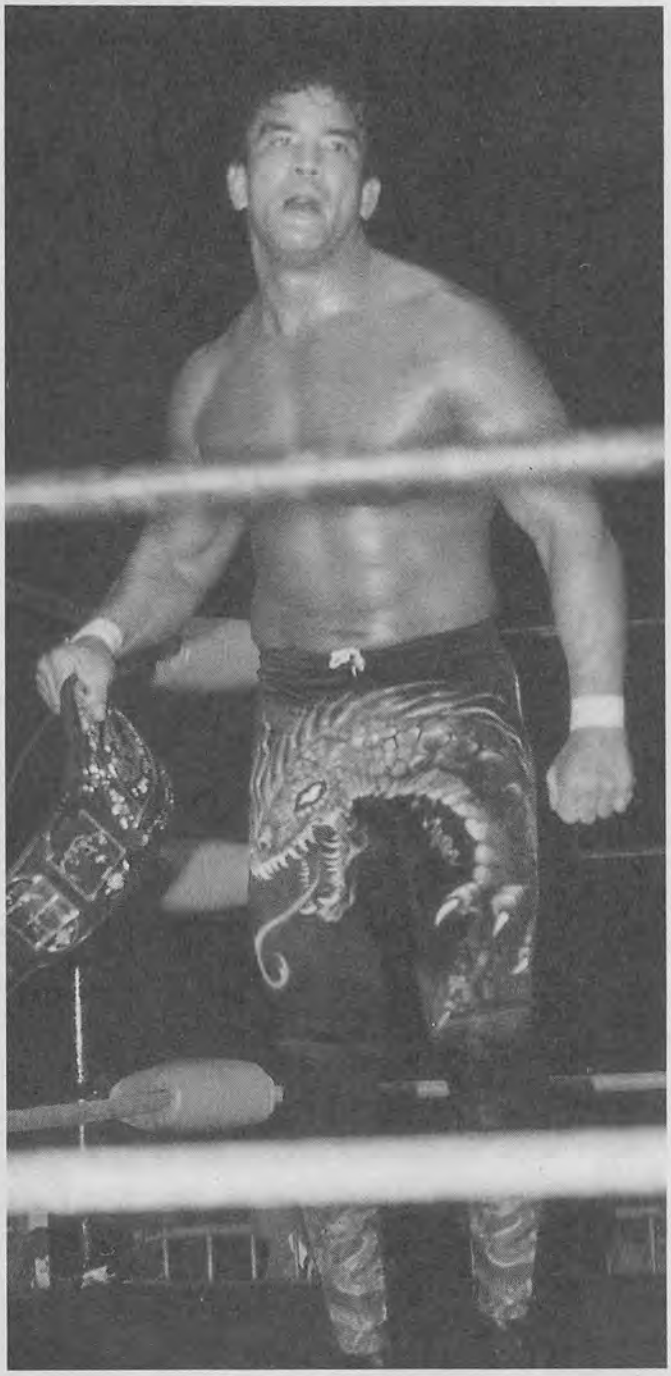
"Narcissus" Lex Luger has finally entered the WWF. Luger originally signed with the WWF last year prior to Wrestlemania 8, but he's been out of action and training every day waiting to showcase his talent. Now he's ready to begin his WWF tenure and the WWF hierarchy is hoping that he will be the one to save the Federation.

Have we seen the last of Hulk Hogan? With Wrestlemania around the corner, we still haven't learned whether or not the Hulkster will make an appearance.

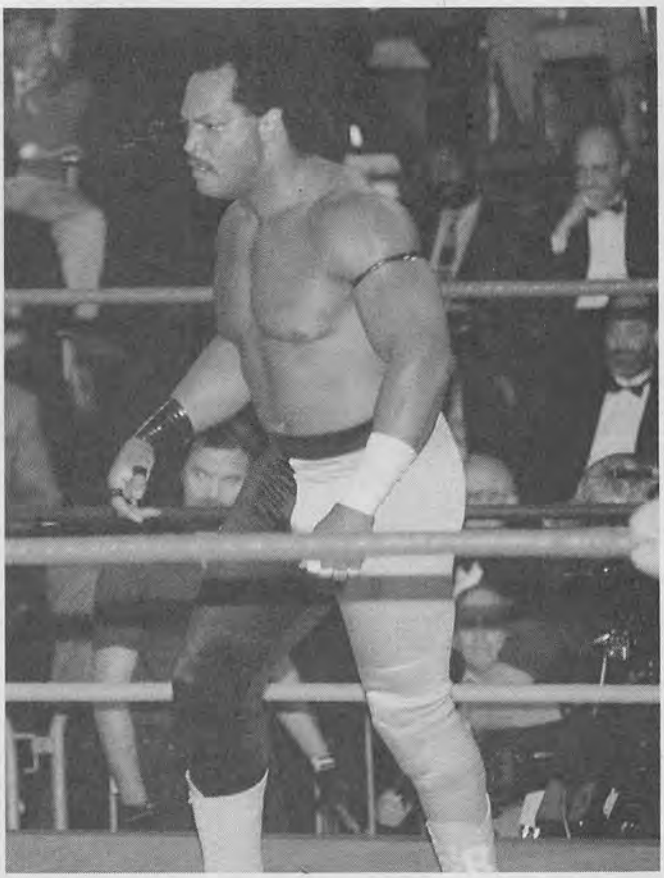


Randy "Macho Man" Savage hasn't seen eye to eye with the Repo Man lately. Oh-oh, there could be trouble!

Ricky "The Dragon" Steamboat remains one half of the WCW/NWA Unified Tag Team Champions. His tag team partner is Shane Douglas.



Ron Simmons won't rest until he gets back the World Heavyweight Championship belt he lost to Van Vader.



WCW

CHAMPION: VAN VADER
U.S. CHAMPION: DUSTIN RHODES
TAG TEAM CHAMPIONS: RICKY STEAMBOAT AND SHANE DOUGLAS

The big news is the impending return "home" of Ric Flair on Feb. 21 at Superbrawl on a big pay-per-view event. How Flair's return will affect the WCW can only be speculated, but everyone is hopeful that the champ will spark a renewed interest in the organization. On Jan. 20—during a press conference in London, England—Davey Boy Smith (The British Bulldog) announced that he had signed up with WCW and he would be touring the U.K. with the group in March. Smith will also be a big addition to the WCW talent roster in the states.

While Flair and Davey Boy are definites, reliable sources say that the Ultimate Warrior has been in Atlanta huddling with Bill Watts. Maybe WCW will fight the WWF one-on-one in 1993.

Cactus Jack a good guy? How can that be possible? Cactus helped former arch-enemies Sting and Dustin Rhodes defeat Paul Orndorff, Van Vader and Barry Windham in the Thunderdome cage battle in Milwaukee. Ever since this happened Cactus has been cheered everywhere he goes!

Look for the Wrecking Crew to challenge Steamboat and Douglas for the tag team title.

WCW World Heavyweight Champion Big Van Vader has now conquered three continents: North America, Asia and Europe. Look out Africa, Australia and Antarctica.

Barry Windham is still gunning for Dustin Rhodes. In fact now that Rhodes is U.S. champion, Windham has an even better reason to want Dustin's hide.

Erik Watts and Arn Anderson are feuding. This has the potential of turning into the battle of '93!

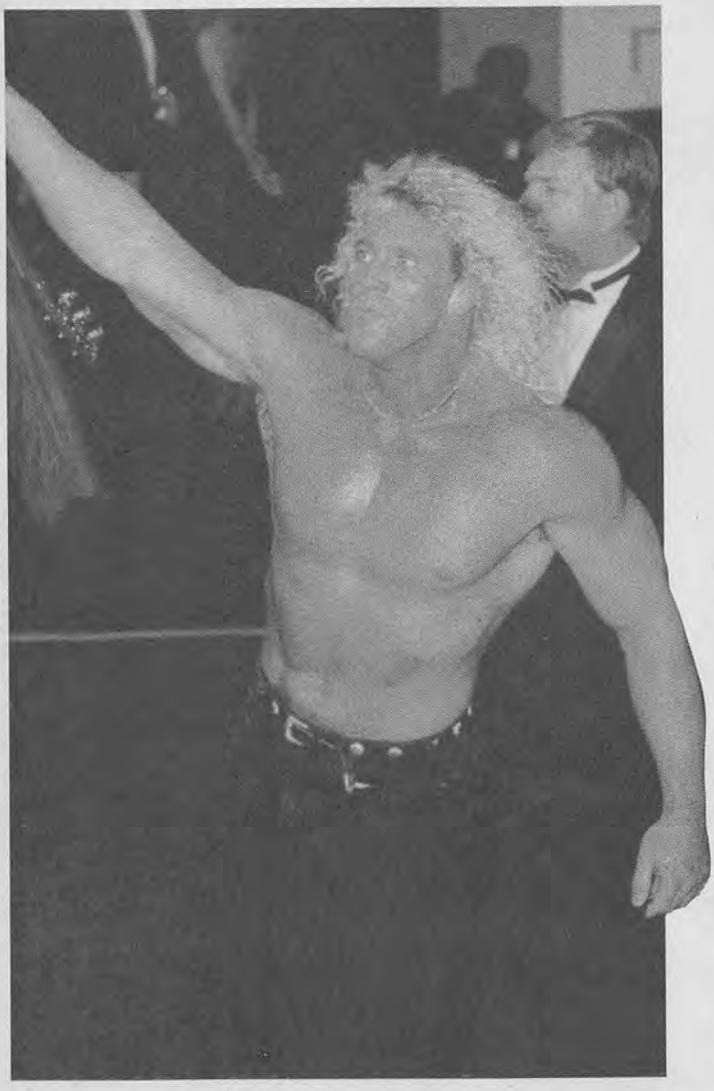
Flyin' Brian and Stunning Steve Austin make an excellent combination. Look for them to swipe the belts from Steamboat and Douglas in the very near future.

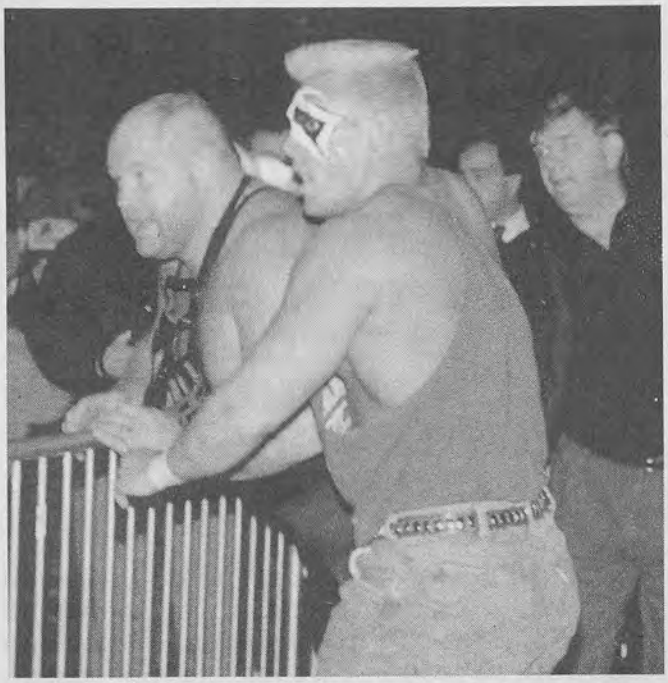
Although Rick Rude was stripped of his U.S. title, don't think for a second that we have seen the last of the Ravishing One. On his return you can be certain that Rude will challenge Big Van Vader for the World's belt. If this bout ever occurs, it will be a good one.

Where is Paul E. Dangerously? Ditto Madusa? Will either be coming back to WCW? It could be a long, cold winter without Madusa around to warm things up in the WCW!

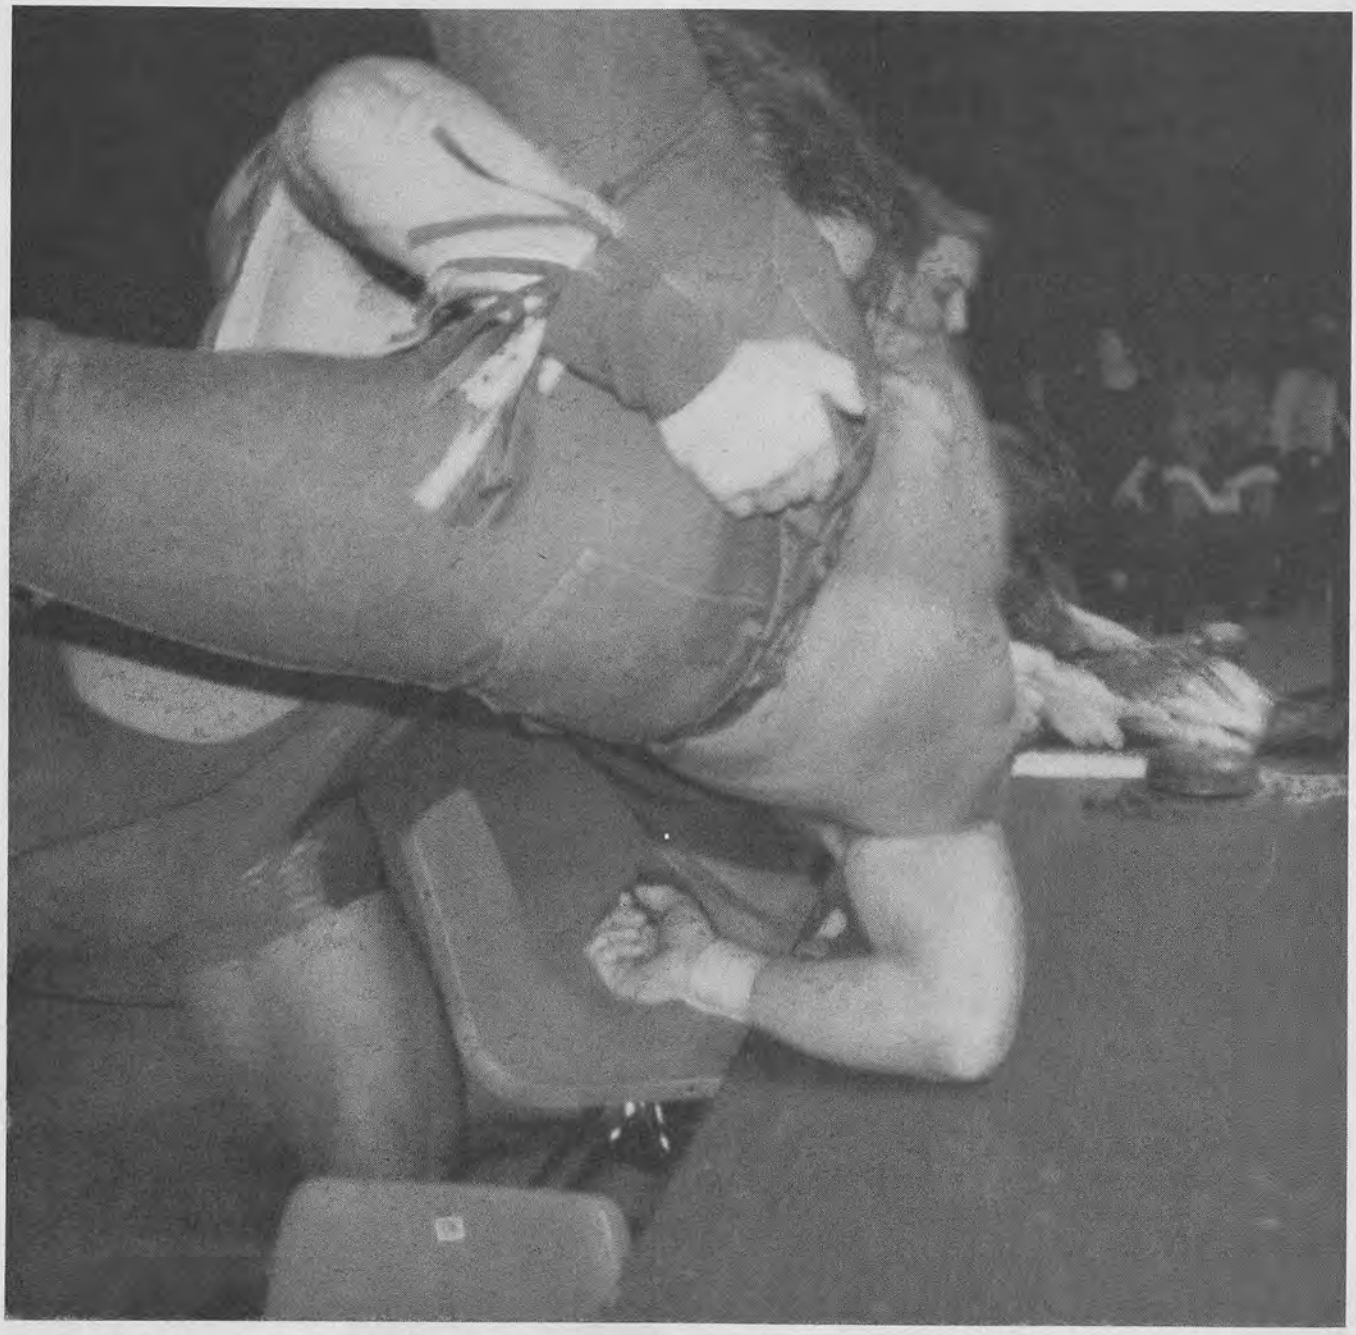
Too Cold Scorpio has looked sensational. The newcomer will become a big star in WCW. Chris Benoit, from Calgary, Alberta, Canada, reminds everyone of a young Davey Boy Smith. With the Bulldog in the area, this should help Benoit immensely!

Jesse Ventura's strong arm contest revealed this man, Van Hammer, to have the strongest arms in World Championship Wrestling.





Sting and Van Vader take their brouhaha outside the ring!



Thunder (of Thunder & Lightning) slams Kip Winchester on the announcers' table.

IWF

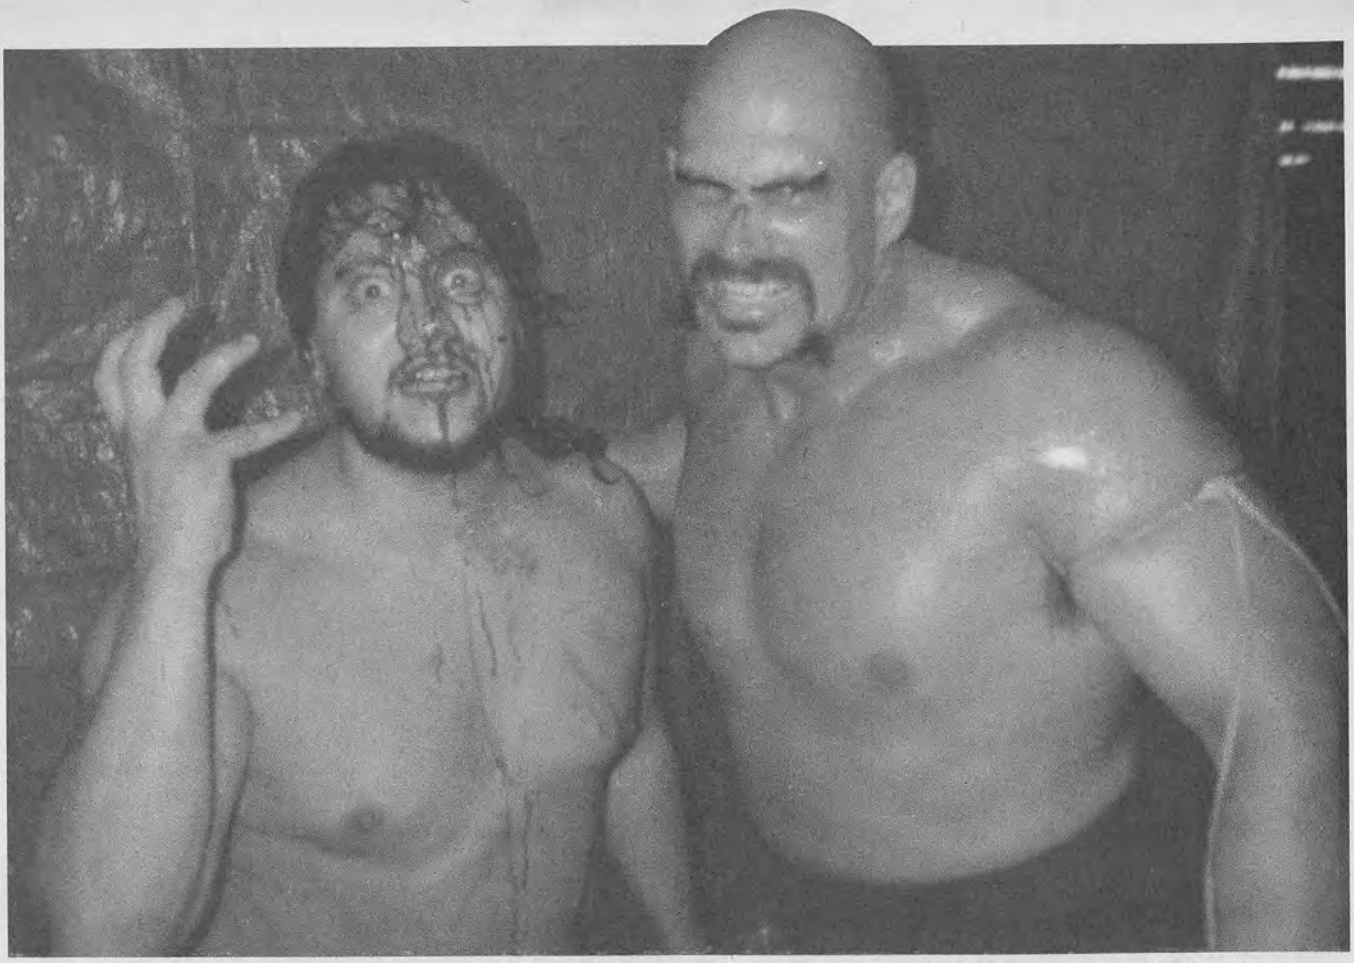
CHAMPION: VACANT TAG TEAM CHAMPIONS: THUNDER AND LIGHTNING

Right now the championship is vacant and a tournament is underway to crown a new champion. Among those in the running for the title are the Possessor, Odessa, Slum, Chubby M.C. and Greg Valentine.

Thunder and Lightning are the tag team champions and they are being challenged by the Posse (The Possessor and the Stomper) and the New Demolition (Ax and Blast).

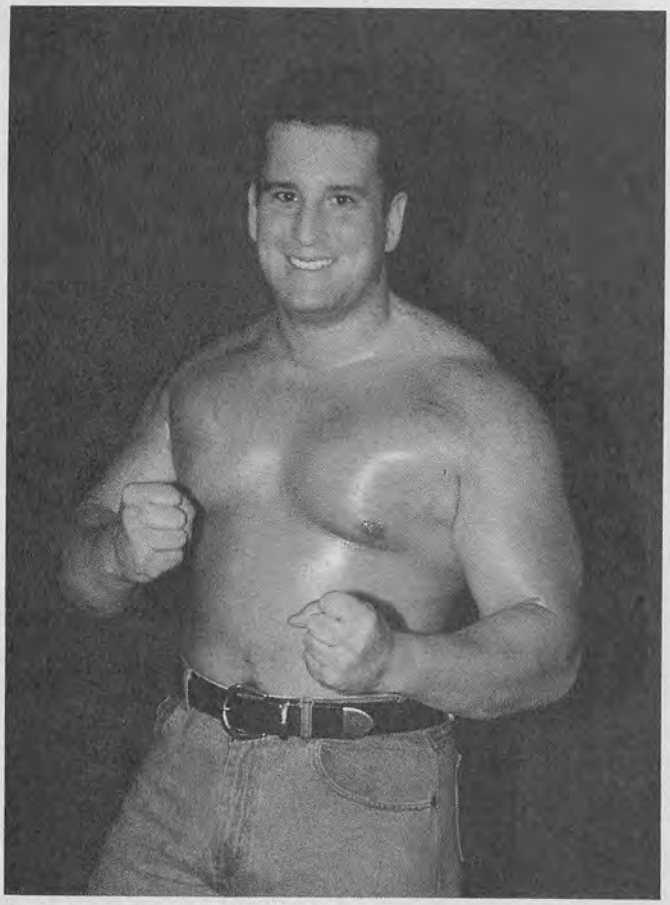
Nasty Ronnie, along with the Possessor and Greg "The Hammer" Valentine, kidnapped Nurse Goodbody and ever since her twin, "The Twisted Sister," has been on the scene. The sister now accompanies Nasty Ronnie everywhere he goes.

By the way, IWF action can now be seen in New York every Wednesday at 5 pm and again on Saturday evening on Sports Channel. With the IWF now on the tube in New York, the group has formed a working agreement with the UWS.



Nasty Ronnie and The Stomper vow revenge after getting the crap kicked out of them by Black Jack Mulligan and his friends.

Denny Brown smashes away at the face of a busted open Rockin' Randy Rhodes during a red-hot IWF cage match.



Fan fave, Tommy Dreamer, is ready for action.

IWCCW

CHAMPION: VACANT TAG TEAM CHAMPIONS: SIOUX WAR PARTY

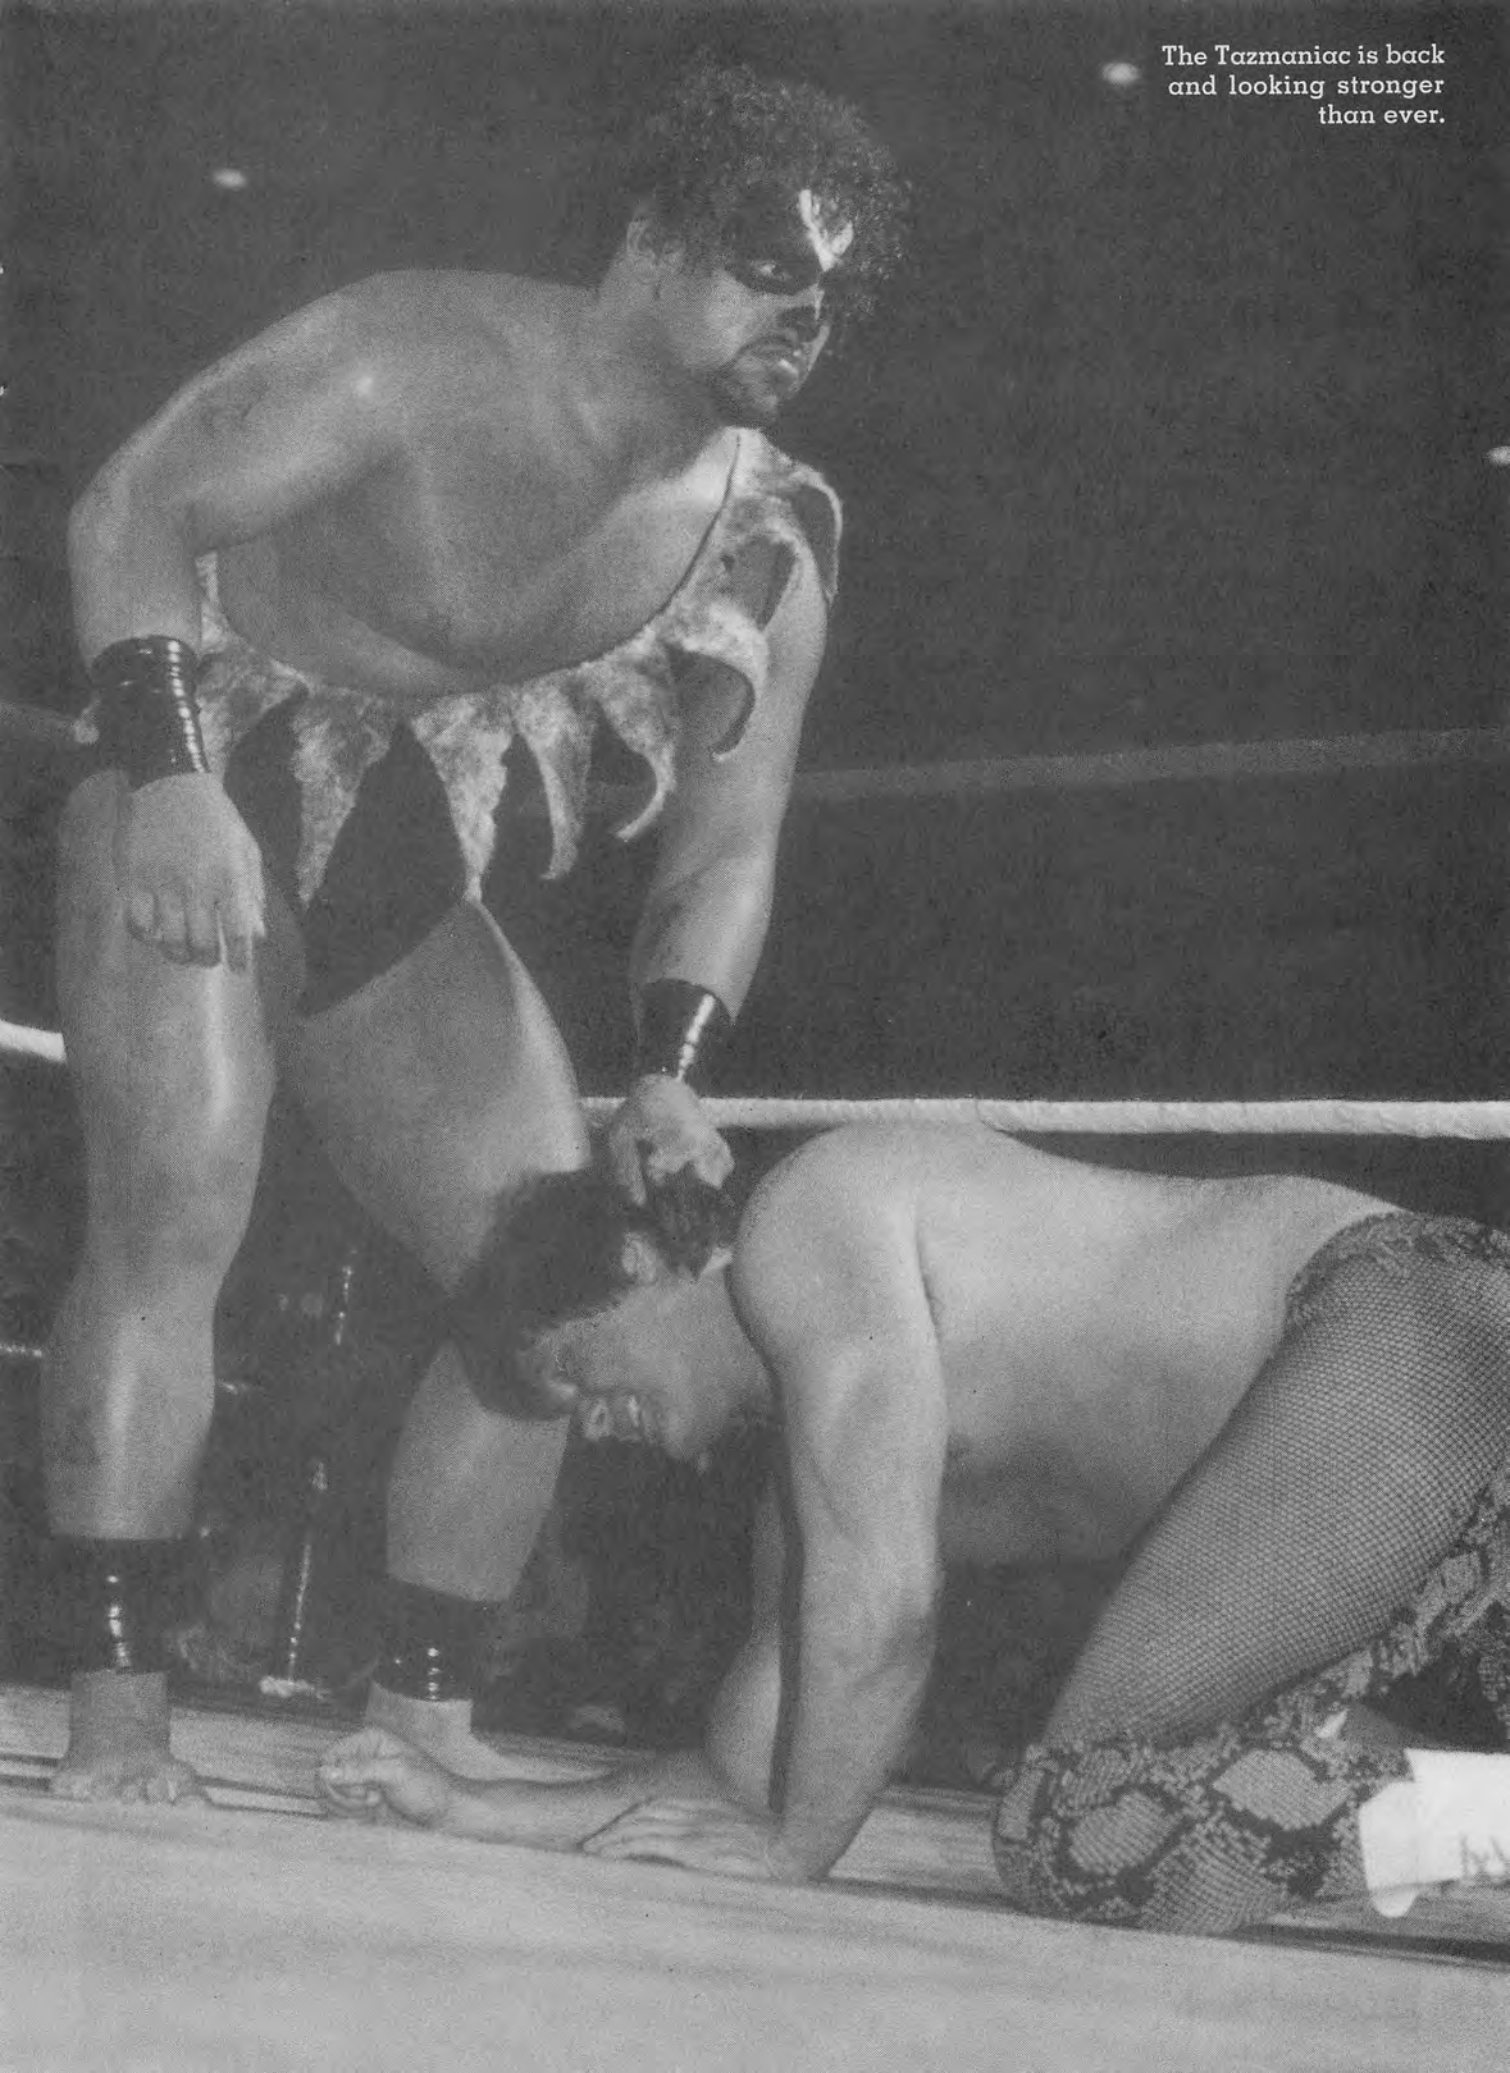
Greg Valentine and Nikolai Volkoff continue to battle it out for the vacant IWCCW title. These two have fought all over the Northeast but so far neither one can claim victory.

The Sioux War Party really look good. Now that the Kodiak Bear has joined the tribe, the Sioux don't have to worry about Maniac Jimmy Deo and L.A. Gore recruiting any other goons to help them fight their battles.

The Tazmaniac has returned after a short time away. He looks better than ever. His Japanese tours for New Japan Pro Wrestling have helped mold him into a much better wrestler.

Tommy Dreamer has also returned and he too looks much improved. Dreamer could be in line for the vacant title.

The Sioux War Party sign autographs for lucky fans.



The Tazmaniac is back and looking stronger than ever.

UWS

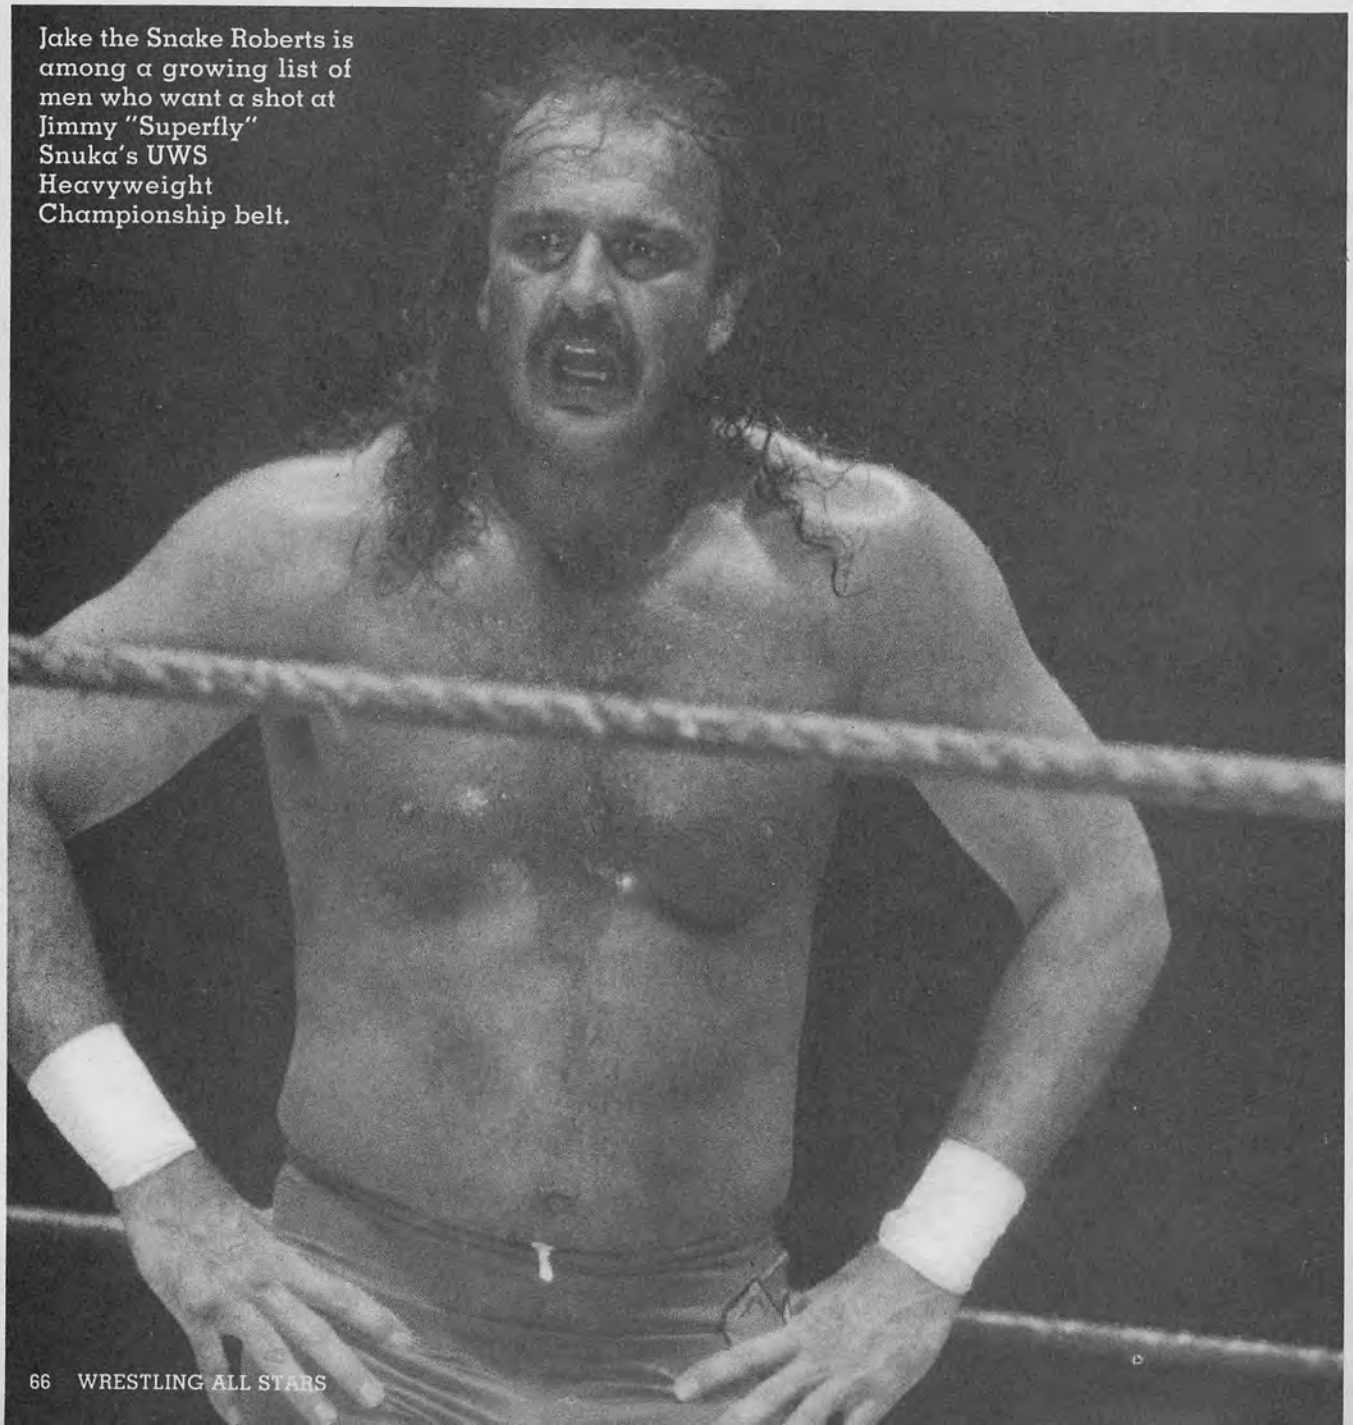
CHAMPION: SUPERFLY SNUKA
TAG TEAM: NEW DEMOLITION (AX AND BLAST)

Superfly Snuka has been having his problems of late with Magnificent Muraco, Greg Valentine and Hercules. Even Jake "The Snake" Roberts has challenged Snuka! Although the Superfly still has the title, one of these top challengers could be champion by the time you read this.

The New Demolition (Ax and Blast) have looked very good. But, if anyone can topple them it's the mysterious Giant Tiger Cats. This masked duo stand 7' 3" and 7' 5" respectively and they have targeted Demolition as their prime goal.

Boss Hog Calhoun has been knocking off everyone in his path. The big boy from Morgans Corner, Arkansas has vowed to unmask Tiger Cat #1 and drive him out of the UWS.

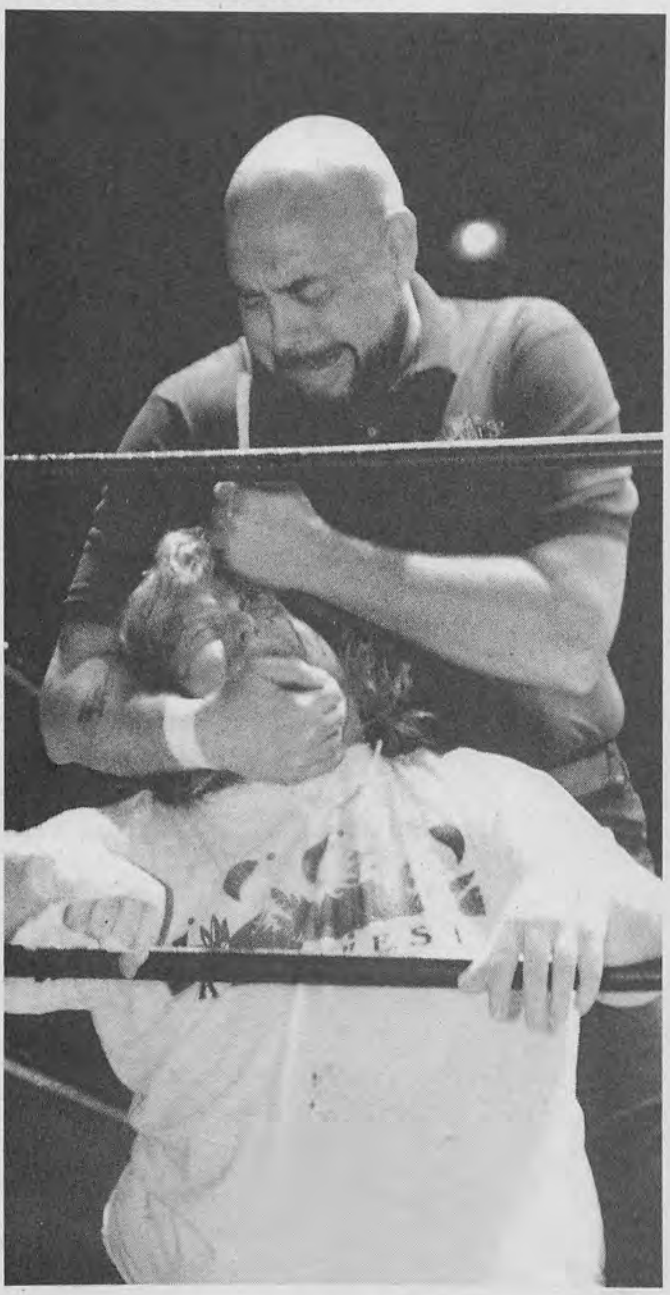
In the months ahead the UWS will be working closely with the IWF from Florida. With this merger one can expect to see Thunder and Lightning and Nasty Ronnie and his crew in the New York area.



Jake the Snake Roberts is among a growing list of men who want a shot at Jimmy "Superfly" Snuka's UWS Heavyweight Championship belt.

Ax and Blast are the new Demolition, blowing up arenas everywhere they go!

Gary Hart (top), shown here getting a little too involved in one of his matches, is currently running the grappling career of top GWF contender Hollywood John Tatum.



Kerry Von Erich (aka The Texas Tornado) has sadly passed away since this article was written. Our condolences go out to his fans and loved ones.

GWF

NORTH AMERICAN CHAMPION: ROD PRICE

Hollywood John Tatum (who likes to pick on children) is now managed by Gary Hart. Tatum's feud these days is with the dim but sincere Maniac Mike Davis...The most menacing tag team in the Global Wrestling Federation nowadays is The Bad Breed (Axl and Ian Rotten), managed by Gaston Means. The Breed have been having their problems with Kerry Von Erich—better known to some of you as The Texas Tornado...Speaking of Kerry, the Angel of Death has been destroying opponents with his patented "Titanium Claw," which is reportedly TEN times stronger than the "Iron Claw" made famous by Kerry's dad, Fritz Von Erich...If you like masked wrestlers, check out The Super Destroyer on a color TV. His red mask is a gas...Top lady wrestlers competing in Dallas' legendary Sportatorium these days include Lady K and Blue Angel...Also competing for GWF: Calvin Knapp, Alex Porteau, teen heartthrob Chaz, Steve Dane and Booker T.

WOMEN

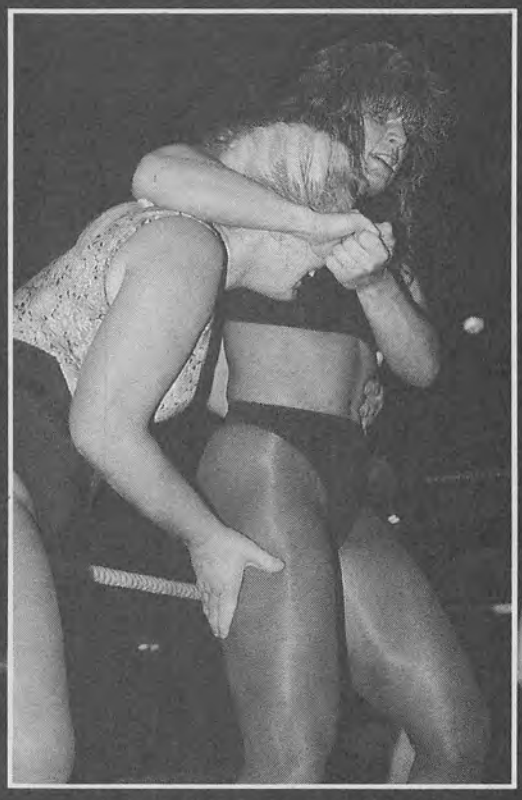
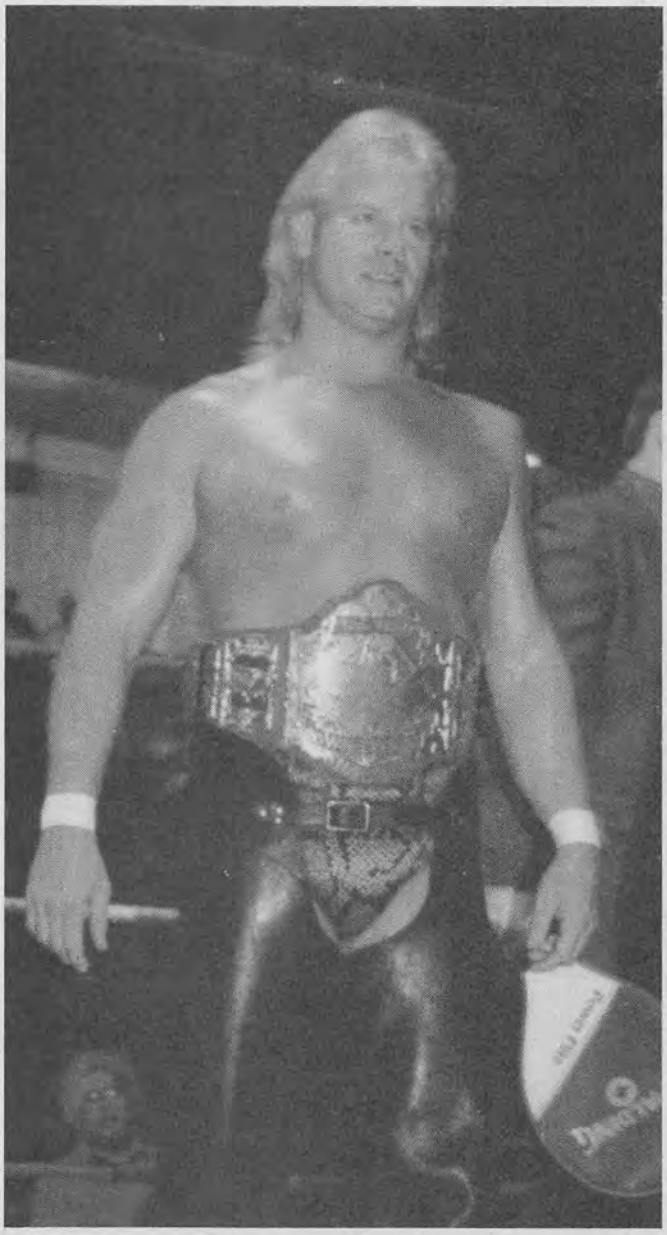
LPWA CHAMPION: TERRI POWER
WWOW CHAMPION: LUNA VACHON



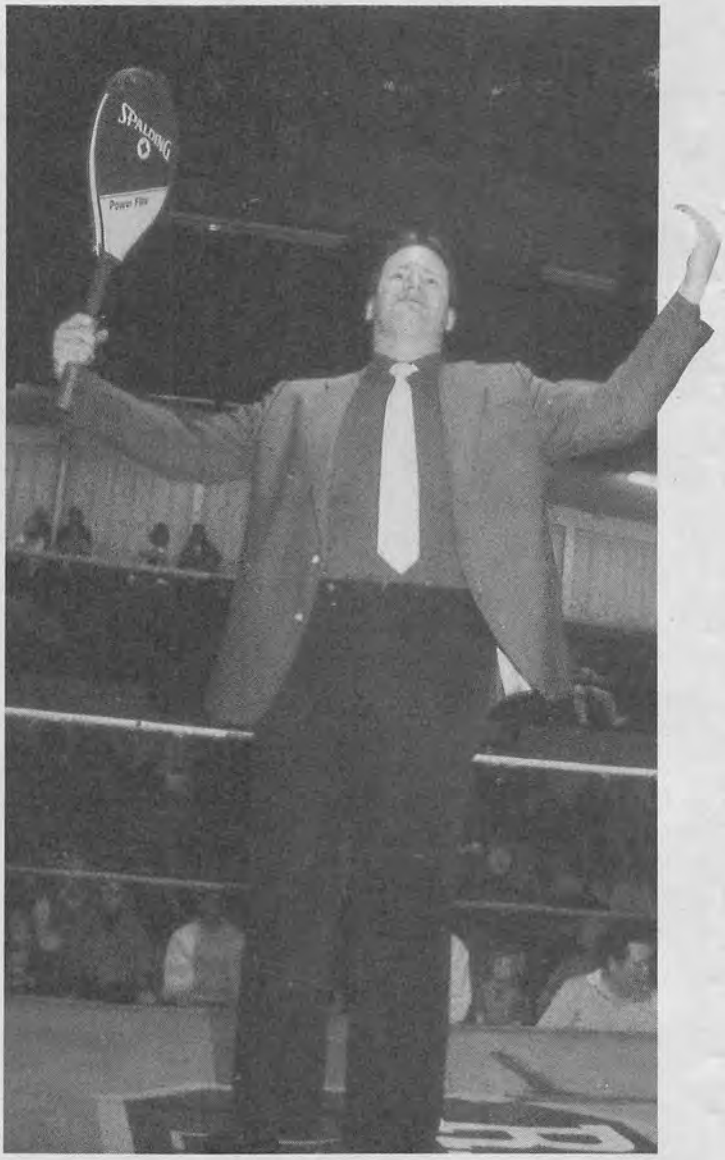
The awesome Terri Power clamps a stringent headlock on ring veteran, Judi Martin.

Heidi Lee Morgan has Black Venus begging for mercy!

Sweet Stan Lane is one half of Jim Cornette's Heavenly Bodies, currently feuding with the Smoky Mountain Wrestling Tag Team Champions, The Rock & Roll Express.



Jim Cornette, with his omnipresent tennis racket, does most of the talking for his stable of wrestlers, which include tag team contenders, The Heavenly Bodies.



SMW

SMW CHAMPION: "DIRTY WHITE BOY" TONY ANTHONY
TV CHAMPION: TRACY SMOTHERS
TAG TEAM CHAMPIONS: ROCK & ROLL EXPRESS (ROBERT GIBSON & RICKY MORTON)

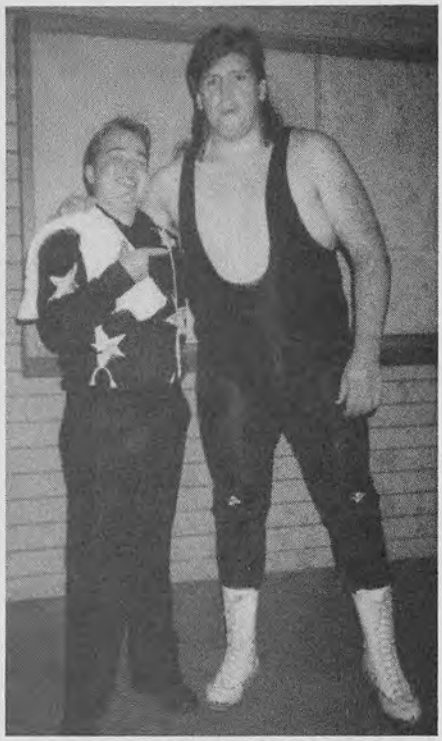
Fan favorite Reno Riggins is new to the Smokey Mountain Wrestling scene. He looks like a promising young athlete—that is, as long as manager Ron Wright doesn't get his hooks into him.

Wright, who is the manager of Smokey Mountain champ "Dirty White Boy" Tony Anthony, has been trying to convince Riggins that the future would be brighter if he broke a rule now and again.

Speaking of the Dirty White Boy, the number one contender for his strap is Tim Horner. Horner had to defeat Paul "Mr. Wonderful" Orndorff to get a title shot at DWB.

The nasty feud continues between the Smokey Mountain tag champs, the Rock & Roll Express, and Jim Cornette's premiere henchmen, The Heavenly Bodies. See this space for future developments.

The Coast to Coast Wrestling Federation Heavyweight Champion, Thrash Master, poses with a fan and his manager, Johnny Pope.



Pope and the other half of his Prodigy's Posse tag team, Thunder Machine.

CCWF

CHAMP: THRASH MASTER

After more than a year of silence, wrestling has returned to the San Bernardino Arena, a venue known as the "Sportatorium of Southern California."

The matches were presented by the Coast to Coast Wrestling Federation, in conjunction with Outlaw Wrestling. Coast to Coast's Heavyweight Champion is Thrash Master.

Thrash Master's manager is causing quite a stir out West. He is being called the best manager to hit the scene since Paul E. Dangerously. His name is Johnathan "The Child Prodigy" Pope III.

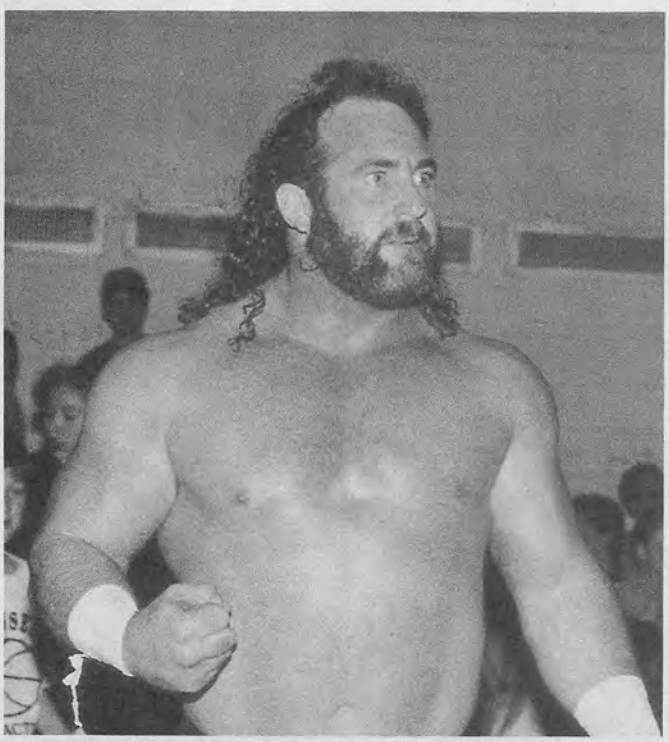
Don't let Pope's youth fool you. Others have made that mistake, and you'd better believe they paid the price.

Current hot feuds in CCWF include a tag team war between the Texas Rangers (Scott Cole and Larry Ludden) vs Prodigy's Posse, the evil team of Thrash Master and Thunder Machine. In singles action, Dr. Jerry Graham is skirmishing with Black Steel.

Others currently wrestling for CCWF are: Jason Redondo, Walking Weapon and Rick Sadist.

Child Prodigy, Johnny Pope, as he appeared in October 1992.

Greg "The Hammer" Valentine says to WRESTLING ALL STARS editor George Napolitano: "Hey George, couldn't ya have found a bigger microphone?"



Hercules. direct from Mount Olympus, could be wrestling in a ring near you—and it only takes a phone call.

STATESIDE

CHAMPION: KEVIN SULLIVAN

Right now, Stateside is working in conjunction with the British Wrestling Federation and CATCH in Germany, supplying talent to both of these organizations. In the next month, Stateside will also be sending talent to WINGS in Japan.

Stateside's talent roster is wide and varied and includes such standouts as Hercules, Kevin Sullivan, Abdullah the Butcher, Tony Atlas, the Warlord, Road Warrior Hawk, Demolition Ax, the Honky Tonk Man, Kerry Von Erich and numerous others.

If any promoter is interested in bringing a top notch event or possibly just a couple of wrestlers to their country, state or city, you can do so by calling (212) 242-6090 in New York City.

NU-AGE

CHAMPION: TONY THE ANNIHILATOR LIGHT-HEAVY CHAMP: THE COBRA

Nu-Age senior referee Boss Hoss has been promoted to the position of ringside commissioner, where he will levy fines, sanction matches and offer commentary. Of his new position, Hoss says, "Now my decisions are final."

Nu-Age Heavyweight Champ Tony the Annihilator (290 lbs., Baltimore, Maryland) is feuding with Texas Hangman Killer...Somewhat surprisingly, the number-one contender for The Cobra's light-heavy belt is Stephanie Star, a woman. The brawls between these two have made Paul E. & Madusa look like they were playing tiddlywinks.

Tony the Annihilator has been the Nu-Age Heavyweight Champion since June 9, 1991 when he defeated Brett Striker, Ricky Rice and Duke Apollo in a tournament.

The Cobra has held the Nu-Age Light-Heavyweight Championship belt since that same date, when he defeated Buck Zumhofe for the strap.

Others wrestling in the Nu-Age/Great Lakes area these days are: Private Moondog, T.J. Lightning, Brett Striker, Red Tyler, Conan the Dark Rider, Jumpin' Jim Brunzell and Dr. Fitness.
